SCOTT FINDS SOUTH POLE

An English Explorer First To Reach It.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE DAILY EXPRESS

No Official Word Yet Received in London.

Word Is Sent to the Express by Correspondent from Wellington, New Zealand—Captain Ronald Amundsen, a Norwegian, Gives First News of Scott's Successful Dash, When He Tells Correspondent.

London, March 7.—The South pole has been discovered by an Englishman This announcement was made this afternoon by the Daily Express in a special cablegram from Wellington, New Zealand. It quoted Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, who has just arrived at Hobart, Tasmania, with saying positively that Captain Robert F. Scott, who headed an English expedition, had succeeded in the long quest for the pole.

Despite this announcement, no official word has been received from Captain Scott, by the Royal Geographical society or men interested in exploration, who were financial backers of Scott's dash.

The return to civilization by Captain Amundsen before he was expected, was theoretically explained by the fact that Captain Scott had beaten him in the race over the Antarctic ice fields It was pointed out that Amundsen went south with the intention of making a quick dash for the pole and that he had no big program of scientific work before him as did the Scott party.

Echo of Cook Story.

The editor of the Express said this morning that his correspondent at Wellington was a reliable and trusted man and that he had the utmost confidence in his word. The peculiar situation which has developed recalled vividly the incidents attending the discovery of the North pole. Some professed belief today that Captain Amundsen raced back to civilization in order to beat Captain Scott with the announcement of the pole's discovery even though he had himself lost the honor of getting there first

These persons conclude that, just as Dr Cook hurried south to tell the world that the North pole had been discovered, although in that case he claimed the honor himself, so in the present instance, the Norwegian dashed out of the Antarctic jungle to have the honor of making the announcement that the South pole had been attained

Asks Further Word.

Amundsen was not expected to reach the outposts of civilization for at least two weeks and perhaps a month.

According to his plan of campaign, he was to make a winter dash on sledges over the ice fields leaving his ship, the Fram, anchored among the floes when the bergs and floes became too thick and dangerous for passage According to that program, he should have reached the southern-most latitude of communication about the 1st of April.

Scott is believed to be still in the ice fields, far from communication with the rest of the world. The Royal Geographical society has sent a cable to Wellington asking for further information from Captain Amundsen

Scott Well Equipped.

Captain Robert F. Scott, who is now forty-four years old, put out from the Thames on his expedition in June, 1910, with sixty men, twenty Siberian ponies, thirty dogs, and two motor sleds. His ship was an old Dundee whaler, the Terre Nova, remodeled and strengthened for the Antarctic expedition. Next to the Fram, the ship used by Captain Amundsen, the Terre Nova was looked upon as one of the best fitted ships ever to be taken into the polar regions The scientific staff Scott took was the largest and most capable ever enlisted in a polar search. The expedition was backed by $200,000 from the British government and private subscriptions Since Captain Scott's departure Sir Clements Markham has issued a call for an additional $50,000 to be applied to the expenses of the expedition.

Scott and Amundsen both are veterans of the Antarctic and for this reason have been especially equipped to meet the conditions. Each has made numerous trips.

Word from Amundsen.

Copenhagen, March 7.—Captain Roald Amundsen, the famous Norwegian explorer, reported to the Royal Danish Geographical society by cable today that he had arrived at Hobart, Tasmania, but he said nothing of the result of his expedition to reach the South pole.

This was the first direct word that Captain Amundsen has sent in over one year. In June, 1911, a letter was received which had been written in the preceding February, but at that time the expedition was still moving southward. The Amundsen expedition started out originally in quest of the North pole. In April, 1909, Amundsen, already famous for his discoveries, among them the route of the Northwest passage, published exhaustive details of his proposed dash.

When Amundsen left Norway on the steamship, Fram, it was announced that he would be absent seven years. Suddenly, on his arrival at Madeira some months later, the explorer decided to join the expedition in the hunt for the South pole. The letter received last June had been written upon the Fram and mailed when the ship touched Framheim.

Amundsen's most dangerous rival in the dash for the South pole was Captain Scott, who headed the most perfectly-equipped Polar hunt ever set out. In addition to Scott's British party, a German, an Australian and a Japanese expedition were headed for the same destination.

Fails To Reach Pole.

Christiania, Norway, March 7.—Announcement was made here this afternoon that Captain Roald Amundsen had failed to reach the South pole. This information was said to have come directly through an official to an official connected with the court of King Haakon, who has been deeply interested in Amundsen's voyage.

Peary Is Pleased.

Washington, March 7.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, retired, the explorer who discovered the North pole, expressed pleasure today when he read Captain Amundsen's announcement that Captain Scott, of the British Antarctic expedition, had reached the South pole. Peary refused to discuss the matter until he heard further details.

DIAZ MAY BE MADE RULER

Deposed President's Nephew Heads Revolt.

UNCLE WILL BE THE POWER BEHIND THRONE

Diaz Is To Hurry Home from Europe.

Two Rebel Armies Are Now Advancing Upon the Capital City—Americans Form Volunteer Corps To Help Defend the City—Ten Thousand Recruits Are Enrolled in an Army of Defense.

Mexico City, March 7.—A brand new revolution, backed by supporters of Felix Diaz, a nephew of former President Diaz, who is ambitious to be president, has broken out. Anti-Madero forces announced today that Felix Diaz will arrive here soon and that Porforio Diaz will return from Europe to guide the government if Felix is successful in his plans. If this is brought about, the former dictator will once again rule, but this time as the man "behind the throne."

Two rebel armies are advancing upon this city. General Orozco, who is marching south at the head of an army, has served notice that he will open his attack Tuesday. The situation is so critical that American and English citizens here have formed a volunteer corps to help defend the capital. Ten thousand recruits have been enrolled in an army of defense.

All American women and children have left this city, the last to leave fleeing in six Pullman cars last night. Two hundred others left Vera Cruz by steamer today. The rebels are reported to have captured Colotlan after a three-hour fight in which fifteen were killed.

CHICAGO POLICE PROBING AFFAIR

Looks into Case of Little New York State Lad.

Chicago, March 7.—Chicago police were today awaiting the arrival of three-year-old Harry Parreto from Mt. Morris, New York. The child left the New York town and was expected here late in the day. Leroy Robinson, the farm hand in whose possession the child was when discovered in Mt. Morris, was detained today by the Chicago police.

Mrs. Ida Parreto, who claims to be the mother of the child, is also being detained. Parts of the stories she tells, the police say, are conflicting. The police believe the boy's name is Winston Budreugh, who was taken from an orphan asylum in New Orleans about a year ago.

ONE KILLED AND TWENTY INJURED

Two New York Central Limiteds Wrecked,

AT BELLEFONTAINE AND NOTTINGHAM

Number of Wealthy Persons Among Injured.

Switch Tender Is Killed When Coach of Twentieth Century Limited Crashes into His Shanty East of Cleveland—Eighteen Are Hurt in This Wreck and Two Are Injured at Bellefontaine.

Cleveland, March 7.—One man was killed and eighteen persons injured today when the second section of the Twentieth Century Limited, the eighteen-hour train on the New York Central between New York and Chicago, which left New York at 4 p. m. yesterday, was wrecked at Nottingham, east of here. A number of wealthy persons were among the injured. All of the passengers except one, George Hall, of Woonsocket, Rhode Island, escaped with cuts and bruises. Hall's left arm was crushed. He was brought to Cleveland where it was amputated.

The man who lost his life was Peter Marr, a switch tender. One of the five coaches which were derailed struck a shanty in which Marr was asleep and he was instantly killed.

List of Injured.

C. L. Hall, Woonsocket, Rhode Island, arm crushed.

George Pope, Woonsocket, Rhode Island, right knee hurt.

J. S Eadie, Pittsfield, Massachusetts, bruised and suffering from shock.

S. G. Han, Toledo, arm cut.

W. H. Leonard, Denver, back wrenched.

George Gilmore, Claremont, New Hampshire, jarred and bruised.

G. F. Farmer, Brookline, Massachusetts, cut by glass.

Charles F. Bishop, Chicago, bruised and suffering from shock.

Henry Sweet, Boston, right arm and leg hurt.

L. F. Washburn, Dorchester, Massachusetts, sprains.

John C. Greenway, Bisbee, Arizona, right knee twisted.

Lamont Rolands, Chicago, bruised.

Fletcher Cowherd, Kansas City, suffering from shock.

Pullman Conductor T. F. Fisher, New York, right arm sprained.

Joseph Encoe, Pullman porter, Morris Park, Long Island, left arm wrenched.

Miss Ella Shiftall, Pullman maid, New York, abrasions and shock.

W. D. Galbraith, New York, cut.

John W. House, West Hartford, Connecticut, legs injured.

On Lake Shore Tracks.

The train was westbound, from New York to Chicago. At the time of the accident, it was traveling over the tracks of the Lake Shore, a line of the New York Central system.

The Twentieth Century Limited, which is one of the eighteen-hour flyers between New York and Chicago, left the former city yesterday afternoon. As soon as news of the accident was received here, physicians and nurses were rushed to the scene.

The train was made up of steel coaches which, in the opinion of railroad men, accounted for the few casualties.

The wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited caused the death of a switchman, but none of the passengers was killed or seriously injured. The following official statement was given out here by the railroad:

The Statement.

"At 2:05 this morning, the second section of No. 25 was partly derailed at Nottingham, ten miles east of Cleveland.

"The head sleeper remained on the track, but the five rear sleepers were derailed. None of the passengers was seriously injured.

"One sleeper fell on a switchman's shanty and killed the switchman.

"A new train was made up at once and proceeded on to Chicago with the passengers. As far as could be learned, the accident was due to the breaking of a tire on one of the driving wheels of the locomotive."

One of the passengers injured, George Hall, of Woonsocket, Rhode Island, was so badly hurt that he had to be taken to a hospital where it was found necessary to amputate one of his arms.

The train was in charge of Engineer George Brown and Conductor G. B. Cramer. It was traveling fifty-five miles an hour when the accident occurred.

FREED ON ONE MURDER CHARGE, MRS. LOUISE VERMILYA IS ARRESTED ON ANOTHER

The charge of murdering Policeman Arthur Bissonette having been dropped on motion of the state's attorney in Chicago, today, Mrs. Vermilya was at once rearrested on the charge of having murdered Richard T. Smith, an Illinois railroad conductor.

CITY OF PEKING IS TERRORIZED

Looting and Rioting Break Out Again.

THREE INCENDIARY FIRES ARE RAGING

Anti-Foreign Feeling Said To Be Bitter.

Fears Are Expressed That Missionaries May Be Attacked—President Yuan Is Greatly Handicapped. Manchu Nobles Said To Be in Conspiracy To Bring About Downfall of Yuan.

Peking, March 7.—Looting and rioting has again broken out here and three incendiary fires are raging in the western quarter of the city. Fresh disaffection resulted in desertions of hundreds of soldiers, who maintained their arms and offered resistance to the troops, whom they were sent against. The night was one of terror for half of the city and pickets were on the alert about the legation quarter where the foreigners are staying After ineffectual efforts to drive the mutineers from their stronghold, a large area of the western quarter was given over to them and no efforts made to dislodge them.

Attacks Feared.

Fears are expressed that the attacks on missionaries in the Pao Ting Fu district is the beginning of the long-dreaded anti-foreign outbreak.

Anti-foreign feeling about Pao Ting Fu is particularly bitter. All missions there have been turned into temporary blockhouses for the protection of the Christianized Chinese women and children, who have sought shelter.

President Yuan Sh Kai has counselled against armed activity on the part of the foreign powers, saying that a clash between Chinese mutineers and the troop of any other nationality would probably precipitate a general massacre.

Yuan Is Handicapped.

Yuan is making efforts to restore peace under severe handicaps. Of the six army divisions under his control, only two can be counted upon. The second division in Ho Nan province and the fifth on the Shan Tung peninsulate are reported to be marching toward each other in order to coalesce their forces.

Manchu nobles, furious at the overthrow of their government, are plotting the downfall of Yuan. A conspiracy has been unearthed at Mukden.

MRS. VERMILYA NEAR COLLAPSE

One Case Dropped and Woman Is Rearrested.

ACCUSED'S CONDITION IS NOW CRITICAL

The Shock of Another Murder Charge Unnerves Her.

Physician Warns State's Attorney To Be as Careful as Possible as Excitement May Lead to Mrs. Vermilya's Death at Any Moment. She Is Charged Now with Killing a Railroad Conductor.

Chicago, March 7.—On motion of the state's attorney today the charge of murdering Policeman Arthur Bissonette, lodged against Mrs. Louise Vermilya, was dropped. A few minutes later, she was rearrested on the charge of having murdered Richard T. Smith, an Illinois railroad conductor. The warrant was issued today by Judge Honore at the request of the state's attorney.

The woman charged with having poisoned Bissonette and Smith and other men was wheeled into court where the brief proceedings were held. For a few minutes today her condition was critical. The shock of excitement when told that the case on which she had hoped to go to trial today would be dropped and that another charge against her, involving another weary wait for it to come up in court, brought on a heart attack. She is suffering from fatty degeneration of the heart, her physician says, and the effects of the poison which she swallowed shortly after her arrest has accentuated the condition

Attorney Warned.

The physician warned the state's attorney and others connected with the trial to be as careful as possible not to excite the woman. He stated frankly that he feared the effect might be fatal.

The warrant charging Mrs. Vermilya with the murder of Smith was served as the woman was wheeled from the court-room. As she could not be arrested while in the court, an officer was stationed just outside the room in a hallway to serve the new warrant as she was taken from the court.

The proceedings planned by the state's attorney were delayed while the warrant was secured from Judge Honore and arrangements made to have it served on Mrs. Vermilya. The woman was wheeled back into court after her rearrest and a preliminary hearing held before Judge Honore. Her attorney, Joseph Burres, demanded immediate trial. The state asked at least a week's delay to secure important witnesses.

BEEF PACKERS SEEK LIBERTY

Want Court To Apply "Rule of Reason."

A VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY DEMANDED

Attorneys Declare the Government's Case Fails.

Counsel for Meat Men Declare the Charge That Beef Barons Had "Criminally Conspired Together To Restrain Trade" Had Not Been Sustained, and Ask That Defendants Be Turned Loose.

Chicago, March 7.—Attorneys for the ten millionaire beef packers on trial here for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law today demanded that Federal Judge Carpenter apply the "rule of reason" to the charge that they have formed a trust, and turn the defendants loose. The demand was made in a long formal motion to the court, which set out specific points showing that according to the view of the packers the government's charge that the packers had "criminally conspired together to restrain trade" has not been substantiated. The first point in the motion brought out the rule of reason contention set up by the supreme court of the United States in the decision in the dissolution suit against the Standard Oil company.

The Motion.

The motion today demanded that the court instruct the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insufficiency of the government's case which was completed yesterday. The motion made the following specific points:

That if any combination or agreement had been shown to exist it has not been an "unreasonable monopoly."

That the government theory of a monopoly in the packing industry does not come within the meaning of a trust as defined in the Sherman law.

That Judge Grosscup's injunction against the packers issued May 26, 1903, practically gives the packers immunity.

That the government has failed to show by its evidence any specific violation of the law within the three years prior to returning the indictments.

On the other hand, the government holds that the packers violated the law and that the evidence shows specific instances of such violation.

The government will contend in its argument in support of this theory and against the motion of the attorneys, that the packers met every Thursday and fixed the price of fresh meats and the telegrams sent from the National Packing company to other packers is proof of the allegation. It asserts that it has proved that the packers stifled competition by buying up smaller plants and that the National Packing company was the instrument used both in dividing territory for sales and by buying up competitors.

The trial began three months ago. About 2,000,000 words of testimony have been entered in the record.

SCHOOLGIRL FOUND IN HOOSIER STATE

Missing Chicago Girl Is Discovered by Her Father.

Chicago, March 7 —Edith House, the sixteen-year-old schoolgirl missing since March 1, was discovered by her father today in Terre Haute, Indiana. Oliver Robins, of Chicago, was with her. Her father will bring her back to Chicago at once

The girl disappeared one morning after leaving the house presumably to go to school.

THE DISCOVERER OF THE SOUTH POLE

CAPTAIN SCOTT.

Word comes from Captain Ronald Amundsen, at New Zealand, that Captain Robert F. Scott, of the British navy, has discovered the South pole.

LONDON WOMEN AGAIN ENRAGED

Resume Their Window-Smashing Tactics Today.

AUTHORITIES ARE TAKEN UNAWARES

Hammers, Stones and Other Missiles Are Used.

Five Suffragettes, Declared To Be Ringleaders in Today's Crusade, Are Arrested—Several Women Are Hurt in Scuffle—Miss Christobel Pankhurst Gets Cold Feet and Flees to France.

London, March 7.—Despite the fact that their leaders are in jail facing long prison terms for "conspiring to incite riot" and disregarding the new drastic attitude assumed by the government, suffragettes resumed their window-smashing tactics today, doing heavy damage in Oxford and Regent streets and along Buckingham palace road. The disorder was finally quelled by police, but not until scores of big plate glass windows had been smashed.

Taken Unawares.

The raid today was organized so quietly that the police were nearly taken unawares. With Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Tuke, Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence and other militant leaders behind the bars, the authorities believed the epidemic of violence had been choked off for a while. In this they were greatly mistaken.

The women gathered quietly, carrying hammers, stones and other missiles in the muffs and handbags. Five of them were soon arrested by the police, charged with being ringleaders in the attack. There was a great deal of disorder and frequent clashes occurred where shop keepers tried to protect their property. A number of the women were hurt in scuffling, but none seriously.

Miss Pankhurst Flees.

The police hunt for Miss Christobel Pankhurst, who is wanted on a charge of conspiracy, was kept up today, but the authorities heard that Miss Pankhurst, suddenly dropping her role as a "martyr to the cause," when confronted with the possibility of a long prison term, had fled the country.

Scotland Yard heard one rumor that she had gone to France last night. She was said to have proceeded from London to New Haven, thence to Dieppe.

Broods Over Affair.

London, March 7.—Brooding over the violence of English suffragettes is believed to have unbalanced the mind of Mrs. Eleanor Jacobs, wife of W. W. Jacobs, the famous writer of humorous sea tales. Mrs. Jacobs was arraigned in West End police court today, charged with breaking four windows in Earl Court during a suffragette raid in which she took part yesterday. In reply to the magistrate's question as to why she had taken part in the destruction of property, Mrs. Jacobs said:

"I've done this because I thought it was my duty, being the mother of five children."

The magistrate replied that such an answer was absurd and remanded the prisoner for eight days during which time Mrs. Jacobs' sanity will be examined.

SEVERAL FIREMEN HURT IN CHICAGO

Fire Does Damage Amounting to $300,000 There.

Chicago, March 7.—A number of firemen were slightly injured today in a fire believed to be of incendiary origin that caused $300,000 damage. The fire destroyed the Edgecomb building at Washington and Clinton streets The fire spread to adjoining buildings and was kept within the bounds only by strenuous work on the part of the firemen. At one time the new Chicago & Northwestern railway station was threatened.

An eight-story section of the wall of the Edgecomb building fell on two smaller buildings, crushing them like eggshells. A man attempted to enter one of these buildings to rescue a pet bulldog He was pinioned under the wreckage for nearly an hour before the firemen could chop him out.

Bill Is Delayed.

London, March 7.—The home rule bill, granting autonomy to Ireland, will not be introduced in parliament until after Easter. Announcement to this effect was made in the house of commons today.

McGinty Is Named.

Washington, March 7.—G. B. McGinty was named as assistant secretary of the Interstate Commerce commission today. He was formerly secretary to Commissioner Clements.

STIFF SENTENCE IS PRONOUNCED

London Suffragettes Are Sent to Prison.

MUST DO HARD LABOR TWO MONTHS

Property Owners Cheer Over the Sentence.

Since the Women Have Begun To Attack Private Property in Their Reckless Campaign, Public Sentiment Has Begun To Turn Strongly Against Them—There Are Still 150 Suffragettes in Jail.

London, March 9.—There was a demonstration in Bow Street police court today when severe sentences were imposed upon women who led the suffragettes in their window-smashing campaign yesterday. Two of the leaders were sentenced to two months at hard labor. When sentence was pronounced, property owners in the court-room gave a loud cheer.

Since the women have begun to attack private property in their reckless campaigns, public sentiment has begun to turn strongly against them. In anticipation of more severe prison sentences, shop owners and others have undertaken a campaign in opposition to universal suffrage. The anti-suffragettes declare the women have ruined their cause by their actions in the past week.

Many Still in Jail.

There were about 150 women in jail today as a result of the outbreaks yesterday. Among the spectators in Bow Street police court, principle interests was directed toward the woman who chained herself to a tree in Whitehall, making it necessary for the police to uproot the tree in order to take her to jail. The home office has hundreds of extra police on duty throughout the city in case of an unexpected attack.

For the first time the public became fully aroused over the malicious destruction of property. When one squad of women was led to jail a huge crowd followed crying: "Horsewhip them."

American Woman There.

Among the other suffragettes arraigned were Victoria Simmons and Lillian Ball, both of whom received sentence of two months.

A number of the prisoners were young, but in striking contrast was Sarah Carwin, an elderly woman with deeply-lined face and white hair. She was found guilty of breaking seven big plate glass windows in Regent street, doing $800 damage. She was held for trial.

Among those arraigned in West End police court was Miss Alice Wright, an American, who was sentenced to two months' imprisonment at hard labor for window smashing. All the other women arrested in the West End raid got similar sentences.

Miss Wright said she had been living in Paris for some years.

ROSCOE CASTEEL IS TERRIBLY INJURED

Victim of Explosion of Acetylene Gas Plant.

PLANT IS FROZEN DURING COLD NIGHT

Uses a Torch To Thaw Out the Equipment and a Double Explosion Follows—Flying Top of Tank Fractures Skull of Unfortunate Man—Accident Tuesday Morning.

Waldo, O., March 5.—[Special.]—Roscoe Casteel, aged thirty years, proprietor of the general store at Waldo, was probably fatally injured by the explosion of the acetylene plant in the rear room of his store, this morning, about 10:30 o'clock.

The plant had frozen up during the night and Mr Casteel was thawing it out with a gasoline blow torch when the gas in the tank exploded. The top of the tank was blow off with great force, striking Mr. Casteel on the head and fracturing his skull. The piece of tank continued its course and struck and broke a large timber. Mr. Casteel was alone in the room where the explosion occurred, but a number of customers in the front part of the store rushed back to learn the cause of the trouble when a second explosion occurred.

The flames set fire to the store, but the blaze was extinguished before any damage was done. The acetylene plant was badly damaged by the double explosion. Mr. Casteel was rendered unconscious and Dr. E. J. Marsh was summoned to attend him. Seeing the seriousness of the injuries, the attending surgeon ordered him taken to the Protestant hospital, in Columbus, to which place he was taken on the noon train. Little hope was entertained for his recovery by Dr. Marsh, and it was feared he would not survive the trip.

In London and its suburbs there are 12,000 dairies.

SUN CULT LEADER BEHIND THE BARS

And In Meantime Missing Billy Lindsay Is Located.

Chicago, March 9.—After months of investigation, the United States government authorities have placed "Doctor" Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, the Sun cult leader, behind the bars. He was in a cell at the county jail today unable to obtain the $15,000 bail demanded by Commissioner Foote. While the federal authorities were conducting a raid on the Sun temple here, private detectives located Willie "Billy" Lindsay, with his mother, "Vaddah" Lindsay, hidden in the home of a Sun cult devotee near a temple at Montreal, Canada.

Members of the federal grand jury were prepared today to interrogate Miss Johanna Clements, Maurice Clements, seventeen years old, and F. T. Broadhead, sixteen years old, who were arrested with Hanish in a raid on the Sun temple by the government authorities.

RICHESON'S MIND SLOWLY BREAKING

The Condemned Pastor's Attorney Talks of the Case.

Boston, March 9.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson's father, brother and sister will attend the hearing for commutation of his sentence from electrocution for life imprisonment when his counsel present their petition before the executive council in the middle of April. At that time, the chief plea for clemency will be based upon insanity. That course is assured. Before the petition is offered, alienists will examine the condemned preacher at the Charles Street jail. Attorney William A. Morse, Richeson's counsel, said today:

"Mr. Richeson's mind is slowly breaking up. There is not any doubt about that. He is also in poor physical shape. He is all fagged out. He doesn't get the proper rest. His mental condition does not permit it.

MISTRIAL IS END OF KIMMEL CASE

St. Louis Judge Discharges Jurors in the Suit.

St. Louis, March 5.—A mistrial was the end of the Kimmel case today. When the jurors, who for five days have been discussing the evidence finally reported to Federal Judge Amidon shortly after noon, they could not agree and were discharged.

The suit was brought by Mrs Estelle Kimmel, of Niles, Michigan, to collect $25,000 insurance on her son, George Kimmel. The New York Life Insurance company produced Andrew White, a former convict, as Kimmel. The jury held he was not Kimmel, but could not decide whether the man was dead when the claim was first made in 1904.

IS CAPTURED AFTER ALL-NIGHT CHASE

New York Man, Thinly Clad, Has a Tough Experience.

Middletown, N. Y., March 5.—After a wild all-night chase, in which he ran for miles, thinly clad, through forests and over fields, swimming or wading through icy streams that barred his way, Chester A. Stanton, former justice of the peace at Furnisboro, New York, who drove his wife and child from their home at the point of a revolver yesterday and then fired the house, was finally captured today by a posse. Stanton is believed to be insane.

GUY STEVENS DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Death Comes at Home of Sister at West Mansfield.

Guy Stevens, aged twenty-five years, formerly employed in the office department of the Marion Steam Shovel company, died of tuberculosis at the home of a sister, Mrs. Wilgus, at West Mansfield, Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock, after an extended illness.

Mr. Stevens was quite well known in this city and news of his death will be learned by his many Marion friends with profound sorrow.

GIGANTIC COST OF BIG STRIKE

Stupendous Sum of $5,000,000 Daily Expended.

UNITED KINGDOM BADLY CRIPPLED

The Total Number of Idle Men Totals 1,850,000.

England, Scotland and Wales Face Total Trade and Traffic Paralysis. There Is Likelihood That All Europe May Be Plunged into Coal Strike—The Steamship Lines Stop Their Vessels.

London, March 5.—The national coal strike, which will go down in the labor annals of the United Kingdom as the "blackest strike," is already costing the stupendous sum of $5,000,000 daily.

Additional steamships were tied up today over Great Britain and industries closed down, bringing the number of idle men up to 1,850,000.

England, Scotland and Wales face total trade and traffic paralysis as a result of the steadily-growing labor stagnation. With prices of the necessities of life soaring, the situation has become gravely critical. American and other foreign tourists are cutting their sojourns in London short, fearing that lack of fuel will seriously cripple transatlantic traffic.

It is reported that the British government has placed big contracts in Canada for coal. The mines in eastern Canada produce bituminous coal of a quality well suited to the needs of the navy.

Warning Is Issued.

Warning has been issued to all householders to use the strictest economy in the use of coal. With the slender store on hand and what little coal can be imported, there is no more than enough fuel to last the country a fortnight.

Conferences were resumed today on the part of the government representatives and the executive committee of the miners' union. The miners were jubilant over the promise of Premier Asquith to introduce a measure in parliament fixing a minimum wage by law. The executive committee of the miners has volunteered to give the government all the data possible in order to fix a definite figure in the bill.

However, it is believed the government commissioners will decide to visit the various districts to ascertain conditions. The soldiers, who have been stationed throughout the coal fields, are having little to do, the miners conducting their struggle in a peaceable manner and so far they have made no efforts to destroy the property of the mine owners.

Strike May Spread.

Thomas Ashley, secretary of the Federated Miners' union, is in close communication with the continental miners. Although the possibility is remote, there is a likelihood that all Europe may be plunged into a coal strike. The first step has been taken in Germany, where 1,000 men are out in the Westphalia field.

In the view of the victory of the men in securing the government's promise of a minimum wage bill, the British miners will hardly ask that a sympathetic strike be called outside of the United Kingdom.

JURY DECLARES TRIO OF SLAYERS GUILTY

One Gets Life Imprisonment, Two Twenty-Five Years.

The Three Men Murder Chicago Woman When She Attempts To Prevent Robbery of Her Husband Near His Own Home.

Chicago, March 5. The three slayers of Mrs. Hattie Kaufman, killed by auto bandits when she attempted to prevent the robbery of her husband as they neared their home here, were found guilty by a jury in the criminal court today. The jurors have considered the case since yesterday noon. The penalties fixed were:

George "Towhead" Rabineau, life imprisonment; William Roland Channell, twenty-five years imprisonment; John Stacey, twenty-five years imprisonment.

A fourth member of the party, Fred Boneham, pleaded guilty on the day the trial began. His fate is in the hands of Judge Kersten.

Rabineau fired the shot that killed Mrs. Kaufman. Channell, youngest member of the gang, planned the holdup.

Seven Are Injured.

Winnipeg, Man., March 5.—Dr. Sparling, of Saskatoon, was fatally injured and six other passengers were seriously hurt when the rear end of a Canadian Northern train jumped the track and rolled down an embankment near Saskatoon early today.

Owing to labor disputes in the United Kingdom during the last year, workmen lost time amounting in all to 9,722,500 days.

EASTON HAS A $500,000 FIRE

Pennsylvania City Ravaged by Flames.

AID RUSHED FROM NEW JERSEY POINTS

Dynamite Used To Check the Raging Fire.

A Number of Business Houses Are Destroyed, Together with Lodge Rooms of Masons, G. A. R. and Sons of Veterans—The Tenth Incendiary Fire Is Kindled in New York City Within Few Hours.

Easton, Pa., March 5.—Fire broke out in the business district of Easton today and within a few hours had destroyed more than half a dozen big buildings, with a loss of $500,000. Aid was rushed from Phillipsburg, New Jersey, and other nearby points. At 9:30, after the fire had been burning for four and one-half hours, preparations were made to use dynamite as a last resort. The office of the Western Union Telegraph company was burned and all communication by this medium cut off.

Among the places destroyed were the Bijou moving-picture theater, the Magee wholesale liquor store, the Greene store, the Snyder shoe store and the lodge rooms of the Masons, the Sons of Veterans and the Grand Army of the Republic.

Easton is the county seat of Northampton county, sixty-five miles north of Philadelphia. The population exceeds 30,000.

Tenth Incendiary Fire.

New York, March 5.—The tenth incendiary fire kindled in the tenement at No. 130, west 134th street in the past thirty-six hours was discovered early today, driving the occupants from their homes. The house was not crowded at the time, for a series of fires yesterday had caused many families to move. The fire today was discovered on the fifth floor. Some one had soaked the floor of a hallway with oil then set fire to it. A police guard has been stationed around the house.

PAYS PENALTY ON GALLOWS

Young Joseph Stott Declines a Possible Reprieve.

SPURNS OFFER MADE BY AGED MOTHER

And Goes to Death for Killing Sweetheart.

I Have Committed the Crime and I Am Prepared To Pay the Penalty, Boy Cries Out to Faithful Parent, as She Pleads That She Be Allowed To Ask the Governor for a Reprieve.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 5.—Declining a possible reprieve to allow his case to be placed before the state pardon board, Joseph Stott, of Syracuse, New York, was hanged here at 10:15 a. m. today for the murder of his former sweetheart, Blanche Rheam Taylor, whom he shot to death because she took the savings they had in the bank for their own wedding and married another.

Mrs. Stott, the executed man's aged mother, who had spent many weary weeks over the washtub to get money enough to give him a decent burial, came to Harrisburg prepared to appeal to Governor Tener to reprieve her son until she should lay additional evidence of his previous good character before him. The resolutions of numerous Syracuse organizations and the petitions of his friends also were ready to be laid before the state board of pardons. When she informed her son of her intention, he refused absolutely to allow the matter to proceed.

"I have committed the crime," he told her, "and am prepared to pay the penalty. I beg of you as my last wish not to do this thing."

BRYAN HITS SANDBAG PLANS IN JOURNALISM

Plea for Publicity Is Made by the Nebraska Democrat.

Spokane, Wash., March 5.—A demand for publicity in the conduct of newspapers was voiced by William J. Bryan in an address here in which he demanded an end of "sandbag" methods in journalism. The plea for publicity was made in connection with a talk on publicity in campaign contributions. Bryan cited the fact that Banker John R. Walsh, of Chicago, had been willing to pay $1,500,000 to support a Chicago paper and cited this as evidence of "the sandbag uses to which a newspaper can be put."

SECOND LETTER OF ROOSEVELT

Colonel Writes His Opinions to Frank Munsey.

AGAIN TRIES TO EXPLAIN THINGS

Still Declares He Doesn't Seek Nomination.

He Says His Second Epistle Bears Out What He Said in Letter to Van Valkenberg. That, While He Isn't Seeking Office, He Won't Tie His Hands So He Can't Accept If Tendered to Him.

New York, March 5.—Colonel Roosevelt made public today a letter he had written to Frank Munsey, in which he goes to some length in explanations of his statements bearing on previous refusals to run for office again. The letter states that he has always made the same statement as contained in the Van Valkenberg letter—that he was not seeking the nomination nor would he accept it if it came to him as the result of an intrigue.

The portion of the letter written to Mr. Munsey, which has a bearing on the statements attributed to him, follows:

"What I have said to you and am about to say, I have, for instance, said not only to other friends, who think I ought to be nominated, but to friends and even foes who think I ought not to be nominated, provided only I could trust their sincerity, intelligence and truthfulness.

States Instance.

"For instance, I have said the same things to Secretary Stimson, Secretary Meyer and Congressman Longworth, who are supporting Taft; to Mr. Pinchot and Congressman Lenroot and Kent, who are supporting La Follette; I have said to those editors, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Van Valkenberg and Mr. Wright; I have practically said to the entire Aldine club, Democrats, Republicans every one.

"I am not and shall not be a candidate. I shall not seek the nomination, nor would I accept it if it came to me as the result of an intrigue.

"But I will not tie my hands by a statement which would make it difficult or impossible for me to serve the public by undertaking a great task if the people as a whole seem definitely to come to the conclusion that I ought to do that task."

Colonel Roosevelt received a few visitors at his office at the Outlook today, among whom were J. P. Murphy, treasurer of the Philadelphia Roosevelt committee and R. J. Wynne, former assistant postmaster general.

Has Had All Honors.

"If I should consult my personal interests," wrote Colonel Roosevelt, "I should most emphatically announce that I would under no circumstances run. I have had all the honors that any man has had from holding the office of president. From every personal standpoint there is nothing for me to gain whether in running for the office or in holding the office and there is much to lose."

The Most Progressive.

The most progressive Republican administration that has ever held power has been in office since March 4, 1909. Its enforcement of the anti-trust law as compared with prior Republican and the one Democratic administration has been exceedingly vigorous, as the court records well show.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SUSPECTED OF STARTING FIRES, HE ENDS LIFE

Roscoe Tinner Commits Suicide Early Today.

While State Has No Direct Evidence Against the Man, the Matter Preys Heavily Upon His Mind When He Is Suspected.

Columbus, O., March 5.—Fred Lanneman, a tinner, living in Roscoe and maintaining a shop at Coshocton, a man who was closely questioned in connection with the Roscoe incendiary fires, committed suicide early today. A message to that effect was sent State Fire Marshal Zuber by Prosecutor Klein, of Coshocton county, both of whom devoted much time recently to an investigation of the fires.

There was some evidence, mostly circumstantial, but Lanneman was able to establish alibis in some of the fires that made it impossible for the state fire marshal's department to connect him with the fires. It was at his home that Miss Florence Osborne, the Columbus school-teacher, boarded at the time when the school-house was burned. When she returned to the town a few weeks later, she took up residence at another home whose owners were involved in successive fires. One of the developments in the case that turned the attention of the authorities on Lanneman was the fact that he took an undue interest in the case.

V. GORDON STAIR WILL LEAVE MARION SOON

Withdraws from the Houghton Sulky Company.

V. Gordon Stair, who for the past eight years has been identified with the Houghton Sulky company, has resigned his position as secretary and sales manager and will leave Saturday evening for Canton, where he has accepted the management of a prosperous and well-established manufacturing concern.

Mr. Stair first identified himself with the Houghton company as a bookkeeper, and, as his experience in the service of the company ripened, he assumed more important duties until he was chosen for the position which he has just resigned. A host of business acquaintances throughout the country, and a multitude of friends in Marion have found him a good friend and a young man of more than ordinary business capabilities. That he will succeed in Canton is beyond question. While his friends regret his departure they feel well assured of his success. Mr. Stair will dispose of his stock in the local company, and will devote himself entirely to the interests of the business with which he has identified himself.

JURY DECLARES HIM IMPOSTER

That Is Decision in the Famous Kimmel Case.

KIMMEL IS NOT REAL CLAIMANT

But Another Puzzling Question Comes Up.

Judge Sends Jury Back To Consider Whether the Real George A. Kimmel Is Living or Dead—Woman Called Mother by Man in Case Still Refuses To Recognize Him—History of the Case.

St Louis, Mo, March 4 —The man who appeared in the Kimmel case here as George A. Kimmel, is an imposter Such was the decision today of the jury in federal court that has been considering the case since 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The jury in its report to Judge Amidon stated positively that Kimmel is not the real claimant in the case, but reported that it was unable to determine whether the real Kimmel was dead when the suit was filed in 1904.

The jury was sent back to consider further and decide whether Kimmel was dead when the claim for insurance was preesnted.

The man representing himself as Kimmel was the chief witness for the New York Life Insurance company, resisting payment of insurance policies for $20,000 held by Mrs. Estelle Kimmel, of Niles, Michigan, his mother. The man otherwise known as Andrew J White, was discovered in the state prison at Auburn, New York, where he served a term of years for robbery.

Story of Case.

Kimmell formerly resided with his mother in Niles Thirteen years ago, he left the Michigan town and went to Arkansas City, Arkansas, where he engaged in business. Later, he disappeared He was not seen or heard of again until he appeared in Niles last September, claiming to be Kimmel

In the meanwhile, Mrs. Kimmel had endeavored to collect $25,000 insurance on her son's life. She brought certain proofs that he was dead and one company accepted them and paid a policy of $5,000. The New York Life Insurance company, however, would not accept the proofs, asserting that Kimmel was still alive It was through the efforts of this company that Kimmel was found in Auburn and brought to Niles A meeting was arranged between Mrs Kimmel and her alleged son White, or Kimmel, known then as "The Man of Mystery," demanded certain conditions regarding the meeting which his mother refused to grant Finally, however, the two were brought together.

Not Right Man.

Mrs Kimmel almost immediately said that White was not the long-missing Kimmel Suit, which had been filed to collect the policy, was then brought to trial in the federal court in St Louis There, a number of witnesses were brought to prove that White and Kimmel were identical Mrs Kimmel, herself a witness, standing beside the claimant, declared emphatically that he was not her son

Since the suit was brought by the woman to collect the policy, the question whether Kimmel was dead at the time the claim was filed was presented to the jury. This point the jurors could not determine.

EIGHTEEN-HOUR FLYER WRECKED

Engineer Reduces Speed and Prevents Serious Accident.

Upper Sandusky, O., March 4.—The Pennsylvania railroad's eighteen-hour flyer, bound from New York for Chicago, was wrecked at Glenville, Ohio, early today.

None of the passengers or crew was killed, but thirty-five of the former were severely bruised by being tossed about in their births.

The train was running sixty-five miles an hour in an attempt to make up twenty-five minutes' lost time when one of the double trucks on the first engine broke and the locomotive was thrown from the rails.

The engineer of the second locomotive stuck to his post and reduced the train's speed considerably before his engine and the two following cars left the track.

TAXI ROBBERS ARE INDICTED

"Joe, the Kid," and One Other Man Are Still Missing.

New York, March 4.—As a result of evidence given by Edward Kingman, the taxicab bandit, who turned state's evidence against his companions, six indictments were returned today by the grand jury against men implicated in the holdup of two messengers of the East River National bank last month when $25,000 was stolen

Mateo Arbann, Eugene Splain, a man known as "Dutch" and a youth known as "Joe, the Kid," were indicted for robbery in the first degree and George Delio and Joseph Lee, alias "Jimmy, the Push," were indicted for receiving stolen goods "Dutch" and "Joe, the Kid," have not yet been caught, but the others will be arraigned tomorrow.

ROSARIO GARGANO DIES SATURDAY EVENING

Murdered Man Lies Unconscious Till Death Comes.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR THE MURDERER

The Officers Feel Sure That Santo Foti Is Guilty of Killing Gargano. Story of Antonino Olivere, Who Is with the Men Two Minutes Before the Killing.

Rosario Gargano, the Italian who was murderously assaulted in a car in the Erie yards, Saturday at noon, died at the Marion City hospital at 6:20 o'clock Saturday evening. Gargano never regained consciousness and from the time he was found in the yards, little hope was entertained for his recovery, more than twelve square inches of his skull being removed.

The victim of the assault is about twenty-seven years of age and has a wife and one child in Italy. He was a man of perfect build, and nice appearance, and was well liked by all of his fellow employes. The deceased came to Marion but a few months ago, and so far as is known has no relatives in this country.

Since the assault which resulted in the death of Gargano, the police have been searching for Santo Foti, who was seen running from the car where the crime was committed just before Gargano was found. Foti is described as being about five feet and seven inches in height, weighing in the neighborhood of 130 pounds and is about twenty-nine years of age.

Victim Well Liked.

Antonino Paternostro, the foreman of the gang under which Foti and the victim of the assault were employed, called at police headquarters, Sunday morning, in company with Antonino and Tommaso Olivere, who are employed under him and who were close friends of Gargano and Foti. From these men information was secured that make it positive in the minds of the officers that Foti is the man who caused the death of Gargano.

Paternostro stated that Santo Foti did not come to work, Saturday afternoon, and the last he saw of him was while he was working, about 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. According to the foreman's story, Gargano was one of the best workers on the force, and was the best-liked employe, while Foti was of a quarrelsome disposition and was threatened with dismissal on several occasionsn for his conduct. He stated that Foti came here from Jamestown, New York, about six months ago.

The story of Antonino Olivere strengthens the belief that Santo Foti committed the assault which caused the death of Gargano. According to his story, the murdered man, the accused, a brother of the latter, and another foreigner lived in the car where the assault was made. Olivere passed through the car at 12 o'clock, and states that at the time he went through, Gargano was eating at a table and Santo Foti was standing by the stove with his hands in his pockets.

Story of Olivere.

Olivere asked Gargano if he was ready to go to work and Gargano replied that he was going in a few minutes. Olivere walked into the next car and made a cigaret, and when he came out of his car he saw Gargano lying on his face by the tracks just outside of his house car, a hammer being by his side. Olivere states that it was not two minutes after he had spoken to Gargano, that the latter was assaulted, and that when he passed through the car Gargano and Foti were the only ones in the car. After the man was found, Olivere says he did not see Foti. Tommaso Olivere stated that he had heard the two men quarreling a short time before the crime was committed. According to the three men who visited police headquarters, Sunday morning, Foti and Gargano seemed to be the best of friends until Saturday. All of these men believe Foti is guilty of the crime, for the reason that he has skipped out without his belongings and without drawing his wages.

A brother of the accused and another Italian were called to police headquarters, Saturday evening, in the hope that some information could be secured leading to the whereabouts of Santo Foti. They knew nothing of any trouble between the accused and the victim, and could give no information of benefit to the police.

KNABENSHUE DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

Death Comes as Result of Injuries Saturday.

RESIDES IN MARION ABOUT THREE YEARS

Mr. Knabenshue Is a Brother of the Counsel General to Tien Tsin, China, and an Uncle of Roy Knabenshue, the Aviator—The Funeral Arrangements.

Willian Creed Knabenshue, the carpenter who suffered a fractured skull and arm when a scaffolding on which he was working gave way, Saturday afternoon, died from his injuries at the Marion City hospital, Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. Mr. Knabenshue fell a distance of about twenty feet and struck the ground on his head inflicting a terrible wound.

Mr. Knabenshue was born at Lancaster in 1862, and had he lived until this summer would have been fifty years old. His wife was formerly Miss Nellie Brunson, of Georgeville. They came here from Columbus three or four years ago, and since that time Mr. Knabenshue had been employed by E S Moon, the contractor and real estate dealer, as a carpenter and chauffeur. Before coming to Marion he was employed as an agent by the Singer Sewing Machine company, in Columbus.

The deceased is survived by his wife and one son, William, another son having died in infancy. He also leaves two brothers, S. S. Knabenshue, counsel general to Tien Tsin China, and O. D. Knabenshue, of Pittsburgh. He was an uncle of Roy Knabenshue, the Toledo aviator.

The remains were removed to the late home at No. 254 Herr street Monday afternoon, where the funeral was held.

MRS. HANNAH POTTER CLAIMED BY DEATH

An Aged Resident Passes Away at La Rue.

La Rue, O., March 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hannah Eloirah Potter, aged eighty-two years and six days, died at her home here, Sunday morning, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Potter had been ill for the past five weeks of a complication of diseases and old age, and was bedfast for three weeks before her death.

Born at Armsville, Athens county, February 27, 1830, Mrs. Potter was the daughter of William and Mary Robinson. When seventeen years of age she came to Marion county and has always made her home here. She was united in marriage to John Love, October 15, 1848, and to this union a son and four daughters were born, a son and one daughter are living. They are William Love, of this place, and Mrs. Maria Plank, of Ashley. In October, 1871, she was united in marriage to Josiah Potter who died in 1890. A sister Mrs. Mary E. Carson, of Newcomerstown, and a half-sister, Mrs. Euseba Harriman, of Marion, survive.

Many years ago Mrs Potter was united with the Free Baptist church under the preaching of Rev. John Colier. She was a lovable Christian woman.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, Rev. J. A Sutton officiating. Interment will be made in the Price cemetery

FOUR DEAD AND NINE INJURED

Fires Claim Victims in New York and Boston.

MANY PEOPLE ARE DRIVEN INTO STREETS

A Number of Narrow Escapes Are Reported.

Fire in New York Starts in Laundry in Basement of Tenement-House, While One in Hub City Also Originates in the Basement—Thrilling Rescues Are Reported at Both of These Fires.

New York, March 4.—Two persons were killed and six others injured in a fire which swept the three-story brick building at No. 202, west Fifty-third street early today.

The dead are Mrs Anna Evans and Charles Parry.

The injured are Mrs. Elizabeth Parry, Walter Muir, Policeman James H. Lawton, Policeman Charles A. McDonald, Fireman James P. Martin and Edward Gondolfi.

There were a number of narrow escapes and thrilling rescues.

The fire started in the Elite laundry, which was in the basement of the building and spread rapidly. Within a few minutes, the stairway was burning and the exit of a score or more tenants was cut off. City Detective McCormick, while riding up town on an elevated railway car by the building, first discovered the flames and turned in an alarm.

The victims were trapped in their apartments and burned to death. Robert Evans, husband of one of the victims, managed to make his way to the roof in a dazed condition and there fell unconscious. He was carried to the street by firemen

Two Dead in Boston.

Boston, March 4.—Two persons are dead, two others dying and a fifth is badly burned as a result of a fire which swept from the basement to the roof of the four-story wooden tenement house at No. 467, Hanover street, North End, early today and drove more than fifty persons to the street in a panic.

The flames blocked the rear stairways and the front stairs were found barricaded with trunks and boxes as policemen from the Hanover station attempted to force their way to the upper stories to rescue the terror stricken occupants.

The dead are Mrs Guiseppe Allegro, forty-five years old; Guiseppe Crisafuli, thirty.

The injured are Antonio Francisco, twenty-seven, unidentified man.

EMIL J. ACKERMAN IS BADLY BURNED

Is Victim of an Accident Sunday Evening.

Emil J. Ackerman, who is employed and resides with his parents at the Ackerman hotel, on north State street, was seriously burned about the face by an explosion of coal gas, shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday evening. Ackerman had gone to the new building being constructed by his father next to the interurban station for the purpose of fixing the furnace fire

Ackerman has been burning slack in the furnace and the victim of the accident had been cautioned to open the drafts to allow any accumulated gas to burn out. In fixing the fire, Sunday evening, the victim neglected in his haste to carry out the instructions. He opened the door of the furnace and, when he went to shake the fire, the explosion occurred. The flames, shooting through the furnace door, struck Ackerman on the chest and face, burning his eyebrows entirely off and terribly burning his face. A sweater which he was wearing under a heavy raincoat was slightly burned All of the chimney stops in the building were blown out by the explosion, but no other damage was done.

KEEPS CITY SAFE OUT OF HANDS OF CONSTABLE

City Auditor Mason Locks Office and Disappears.

OFFICER FAILS TO SERVE WRIT OF ATTACHMENT

Captain A. L. Bond Is Given Judgment on Claim Against the City for Services and Action To Recover Is Taken Through Court of Justice C. E. Gompf.

City Auditor Harry W. Mason did some fall hustling, Saturday afternoon, in locking his office and getting out of the place. The action on the part of the auditor was taken to keep Constable Joseph Long from attaching the safe in the auditor's office to recover $66.66 due Captain A L. Bond.

Captain Bond recently sued the city for the amount mentioned, this sum being claimed by him as pay during the time he was suspended from duty by Safety Director James A Knapp, the captain winning in the contention that his suspension by the safety director was not warranted In the suit for the pay which was brought in the court of Justice C E. Gompf, Captain Bond was awarded judgment for the amount mentioned

The city auditor refused to pay the bill on the grounds that no money had been appropriated and that he did not have a voucher signed by the safety director. He stated that there was $300 in the general fund, but that he could not pay any money out of that fund unless it was appropriated for some special purpose. He consulted the city solicitor and discussed the matter with him, the latter advising him to settle with Captain Bond. However, the city auditor had talked with the state auditor and there was some doubt in his mind what to do.

The city auditor received a tip, Saturday afternoon, that Constable Long was enroute to his office with a writ to attach his safe The auditor hastily locked the office, and then called the city solicitor from police headquarters and discussed the matter with him The city auditor informed the solicitor that the bill would be settled Monday, and to request the constable not to take action on serving the writ. Consequently the safe was not attached and the captain will probably draw his money soon

Some candidates look around for an issue in order to dodge it.

It's easier to down some men than it is to keep them down.

A TRAIN DISPATCHER DIES ABOARD TRAIN

Joseph E. Willis Passes Away Very Suddenly.

DEATH RESULT OF ACUTE INDIGESTION

Mr. Willis Is Given Every Attention When It Is Discovered That His Condition Is Serious, but He Is Dead When a Physician Reaches Him at Waldo.

Joseph E. Willis, a train dispatcher for the Pennsylvania railroad with headquarters in Toledo, died on board the northbound Pennsylvania passenger train, due in this city at 6:52 o'clock, between Norton and Waldo, Sunday evening. An acute attack of indigestion is given as the cause of death.

Willis was enroute from Columbus to Toledo and when he had boarded the train in Columbus he began to complain of being ill. One of the trainmen suggested that word be sent ahead for a physician at Delaware, but as Willis did not regard his condition as serious this was not done. Later on the trip, word was sent to Waldo to have a physician in waiting there, but before that point was reached the sick man's condition was critical and when Dr. E. J. Marsh, of Waldo, reached him he was dead. Death came in the smoking apartment of the car. Those in the car and the trainmen gave him every attention possible, but to no avail.

When the passenger train arrived in this city, the body was removed to the Hess & Market morgue where it was prepared for burial. The remains were shipped to Toledo Monday.

Willis was quite well known among the local Pennsylvania railroad men. He was aged about fifty years and was married.

According to the regular monthly reports of the relief departments of the Pennsylvania railroad system, the sum of $214,365 was paid to members during January. Of this amount, $148,338 represents the payments made on the lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie and $66,026 on the lines west. Since the establishment of the funds a total of $32,365,590 has been paid out.

On the lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie in January the payments in benefits to the families of members who died amounted to $47,512, while to members incapacitated for work they amounted to $100,826. The total payments on the lines east of Pittsburgh since the relief fund was established in 1886 have amounted to $23,474,298.

In January the relief fund of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh paid out a total of $66,026, of which $26,500 was for the families of members who died and $39,526 for members unable to work. The sum of $8,891,292 represents the total payments of the relief fund of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh since it was established in 1889.

During February the output of new bonds, short-term notes and stocks by railroad and industrial corporations of the United States established a new high record for that month, aggregating $239,685,200 against $215,958,600 last year, an increase of $23,726,600. An interesting point of the exhibit is the increase shown in industrial stock and also short-term notes. In the case of bonds a large decrease is recorded. For two months of the current year the aggregate new financing has amounted to $530,578,096, which is $139,450,046 larger than the corresponding figure for 1911. Also a feature for this period is the large increase in stock and note issues and a diminution in the output of bonds.

It is stated in New York financial circles that application probably will be made almost immediately by the Erie Railroad company to the New York state public service commission at Albany for authority to issue the $10,000,000 short-term notes which were authorized at a meeting of the directors in New York. It is understood that tentative arrangements have already been made for the sale of the notes to the banking firm which handles the Erie's financing. If the issue of the notes is authorized by the commission, as is expected, the proceeds will be used largely for double-tracking the main line of the Erie from Marion to Chicago—or what is known as the Chicago division.

LONDON WOMEN MILITANTS BUSY

The Suffragettes on a Window-Smashing Campaign.

DAMAGE RUNS INTO THOUSANDS

Women Use Iron Bolts, Stones and Hammers.

Raid Today Is Made While Thirty Suffragettes Are Being Tried in Police Court for Friday's Trouble. Over 5,000 Police Are Detailed To Prevent Disorder, but They Prove Almost Powerless.

London, March 4.—Militant suffragettes resumed their "war" against the British government today, a window-smashing phalanx marching through Knights' Bridge and Kensington, doing heavy damage to property.

Scores of plate glass windows were smashed despite the 6,000 policemen detailed to prevent disorder. The raid today was made while Lizzie McKenzie, one of the leaders of the militant wing of the suffragettes and the other women rioters were being tried in Bow Street police court.

Miss McKenzie received a sentence of two months, while most of the other women arraigned were held for trial at the London sessions.

Within an hour after the rioting today broke out, thirty women had been arrested charged with disorder and the wilful destruction of property. Some of them resisted and fought furiously against being locked up.

A mob of shouting, stone-throwing women marched near St. James palace on their way to Knights' Bridge and it was feared for a time they contemplated a raid on St. James palace, where King George was holding his first official levee of the year.

Extra Police Used.

Extra police were rushed to Hyde park to reinforce the officers already on guard. Flanks of life guards were also thrown out beyond their usual stations.

In the dry goods district many proprietors stationed their clerks upon the street to save their property. Others had their plate glass windows boarded up when news was received that the suffragettes were on another rampage.

The women threw stones, iron bolts and other missiles which they concealed in their muffs. Some of them rode in taxicabs, while others marched carrying banners. Downing street was under extra guard, threats having been made that efforts would be made to storm the residence of Premier Asquith and government buildings which escaped damage in the raid last Friday.

Later in the day, the women attacked the residence of the Marquise of Creae and J. A. Pease, president of the board of education, smashing many windows.

Some Telling Blows.

One suffragette got into the house of lords before it convened. She was armed with a hammer and smashed seven or eight panes of glass in the windows before custodians found her and placed her under arrest A third outbreak occurred in the fashionable West End where women began their rioting Friday night. The outbreak there was a furious one and there was great excitement among the shop keepers and householders. The crash of falling glass and the screams of the women were incessant. Despite the extra details of police, the women were able to do tremendous damage before they were driven off.

At Harrods stores, twenty-four police were on duty to protect the display windows. Reserves were also on duty in High street, Kensington, but the women managed to evade them and break all the panes in John Barker's establishment. One hundred more police were ordered out shortly after noon. It was estimated then that about $15,000 damage had been done.

AN INFANT DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah A. Davids Lose Little One.

Ruth Ella, the little daughter of Mr and Mrs. Elijah A. Davis, of Nye street, died Sunday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, after an illness of a week. Intestinal trouble is given as the cause of death.

Following the election, the president was called to the chair, and by motion of Dr. F. R. Chapman and Dr. H. M. Semans, of Columbus, and Dr. M. C. Steeves, of Delaware, were made honorary members. A vote of thanks was extended the board of directors of the public library for the use of the assembly room.

At 7 o'clock, the local dentists gave a banquet for the visitors at the Imperial restaurant. Covers were laid for forty-four at a large table decorated with potted plants, and pink carnations were given as plate favors. During the serving of an elegant course dinner, music was furnished by Bowler's orchestra. Dr. H. M. Semans, dean of the dental department of the Starling Ohio Medical college, read an excellent paper pertaining to different methods employed in the dental profession, at the close of the banquet. Miss Carmen Hoge favored the company with a vocal solo and was compelled to respond to an encore. A large number of the visitors returned home on the nine o'clock interurban cars.

Committees Named.

The following committees were responsible for the success of the entertainment of the strangers:

IMPORTANT RULING OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Fees Drawn by Sheriffs Are Declared Illegal.

Sheriff John G. Stark was relieved of considerable anxiety, last week, when he learned that Attorney General Hogan had ruled as legal $200 extra compensation drawn by him annually since he has been sheriff.

In some parts of the state prosecuting attorneys refused to allow the payment of fees to the sheriff for services in criminal courts, wherein the state failed to convict and in misdemeanors upon convictions for the defendant proves insolvent. Sheriff Stark has always drawn these fees, which have been allowed by Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice and the attorney general's ruling, holding that the fees are legal, removes the possibility of him having to pay back the sums he has drawn, if is said.

Notice of Marriage.

Mrs. Belle Holmes, daughter of Mrs. John Lowe, who has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Lowe on the R. W. Stewart farm east of Belle Center, went to Ravenna and, February 21, was married to Perry Lowe, Rev. C. A. Wharton, of the Church of Christ, performing the ceremony. They are now at home in Ravenna.

The bride is a step-daughter of John Lowe who is a brother of her husband. She married her uncle and becomes the sister of her father, while her husband is a son of his brother. She is her own aunt and her husband is his own uncle. What other tangle the relationship of the marriage makes can be figured out for yourself, says the Belle Center Herald Voice.

Both the bride and groom are well known in Belle Center. She has also been employed as a professional nurse in a number of families. Their friends sent them a shower of postcards Monday to express their well wishes.

A marriage license has been issued to William K. Wolfe and Mrs. Martha B. Stiles.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Marion Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Marion testimony:

James L. Lust, 374 Cherry St., Marion, Ohio, says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are an effective kidney medicine. My back troubled me for some time. There was a dull, heavy ache across it that seemed to be worse after I got up in the morning. A friend who had used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully, recommended them to me. I procured a box immediately and they gave me relief after a few doses. I continued their use until the pain had disappeared. I recommend this remedy whenever an opportunity occurs."

CREED KNABENSHUE TERRIBLY INJURED

Scaffolding Breaks and Two Men Suffer Fall.

KNABENSHUE HAS HIS SKULL FRACTURED

Falls Over Twenty Feet and Strikes on His Head—Homer Ballentine, Falls, but Is Not Badly Hurt, Knabenshue Is in the Lower Hospital.

Creed Knabenshue, of Herr street, a carpenter employed by E. S. Hood, was perhaps fatally injured in a fall Saturday about 2 o'clock, when a scaffolding gave way on a building on which he was working not far from his home. Homer Ballentine, a fellow workman, suffered a bad fall, but was not seriously injured.

Knabenshue fell a distance over twenty feet and struck the ground almost directly on his head suffering a fracture of the skull and a fracture of one of the bones of his right arm together with many painful bruises. He was immediately transferred to the Marion City hospital in the Hess & Markert ambulance where he was given attention by Dr. H. J. Lower.

Ballentine's injuries, it is believed, will not prove serious. He was able to be taken to his home on a street car.

LAW GOVERNING THE SALE OF EGGS

Instructions Sent Out to the State Inspectors.

Beginning March 1, all persons selling or offering for sale eggs, are requested to candle them as a test of their fitness for food.

Sylvanus E. Strode, state dairy and food commissioner, is issuing instructions to all his inspectors regarding the new law and requesting local health officers to assist in the enforcement of it. Warning bulletins are being posted.

The Ohio law, Section 5778, subdivision five, says "If it consists wholly, or in part, of a diseased, decomposed, putrid, infected, tainted, or rotten animal or vegetable substance such egg shall not be sold."

Commissioner Strode has issued the following suggestions to farmers on the subject:

Provide plenty of clean, dry nests for your hens.

Gather the eggs daily in cool weather and twice a day in hot or rainy weather.

Do not wash eggs. Use the dirty and small eggs at home.

Keep eggs in a cool, dry place, which is free from odors.

Don't sell eggs which have been in an incubator.

Market your eggs daily, if possible; if not, every other day.

Don't sell eggs which were found in a stolen nest.

Keep eggs out of the sun when taking them to town.

Don't keep eggs near oil, onions, etc., as they readily absorb odors.

The white mayonnaise prepared by foreign chefs calls for cream, lemon juice and the white of egg, instead of the oil, vinegar and egg yolks of the ordinary mayonnaise.

Mr. Brisbane is credited—or discredited—with the statement that Pierpont Morgan's superb mental and physical health, despite his seventy-odd years and the prodigious strain of carrying great enterprises on his shoulders, is due to his habitual consumption of Burgundy, containing four per cent. of alcohol What would he have become and how old would he be now had he devoted himself to "moonshine" whisky?

Attorney General Wickersham is entirely justified in his indignation over the proposition to expel from the bar association his assistant, William H. Lewis, because the latter is a negro. Mr. Lewis is a man of deep culture, a graduate of Harvard, of high character and attainments. He sacrificed a large and profitable practice to take service in the department of justice because it was the highest honor ever extended one of his race in this country. It would seem that the bar association would be better engaged in driving out of the profession the blackguards and blacklegs, who are unhappily numerous, rather than the black man, who reflects honor upon it.

The last Republican national convention demanded the creation of a tariff commission to determine by investigation the cost of products in this country and abroad and to furnish data upon which scientific schedule revisions could be made. Mr. Taft has used all his powers, official and personal, to give this demand effect. Are the Republicans of Ohio ready to repudiate him for so doing?

Mr. Bigelow now says that he is a single-taxer and a Socialist, boasting that both doctrines are a religion to him. We have always felt that if Mr. Bigelow had any religion it must run along that line. As a matter of fact, Star readers will note that Mr. Bigelow's picture of himself and that drawn by the Star before his elevation to the presidency of the Ohio "Con. Con." are as alike as two peas.

If we get Colonel Roosevelt's position, he isn't seeking the office of president for himself personally, but simply as the agent, or proxy, of the Hon. Gif. Pinchot and other fellows, who have been thrown out of office for cause, or that other band of malcontents, who are out of office and can't get in.

If Colonel Roosevelt continues much longer in his present trend, he will go down in history as "The Great Explainer."

When "Uncle Jud" Harmon threw the weight of the state administration behind the candidacy of the Rev. Herbert Bigelow for the presidency of the Ohio constitutional convention, did he know that Bigelow was a single-taxer and a Socialist?

It is an odd phase of the political game that the presidential candidate who assures us that the whole country is for him feels that it is necessary for him to keep a corner on the output of the plate houses.

"Uncle Jim" Hill holds that the rails used by railroads, at present, are too hard—too brittle; that while they will resist wear, they will not resist cold, and he has ordered the Great Northern equipped with softer steel. A step like this will be looked upon as revolutionary by the fellows who put dividends above the lives of their passengers

A candidate for the Kansas legislature promises to secure the passage of a law compelling a man to pass a civil service examination and secure a government license before he can tell a funny story. What's the use of restricting a reform like that? He should run for congress and confer his blessing on the entire land.

Senator La Follette insists that the report of his political death was wholly the result of a faulty diagnosis of his case.

We count that day lost, whatever he our meed, that brings from Anderson, M. C., no bunch of garden seed.

One explanation of the amount of this so-called progressive talk one hears may be that the self-styled progressives are unduly fond of listening to their own voices.

Who would have thought, four years ago, that the colonel would ever become so pessimistic that he would actually believe that in this great and glorious land of ours there was but one man capable of saving it?

"Death to Madero" was the cry heard in the streets of the city of Mexico, yesterday. Let's see! Isn't this Madero the same much-exploited progressive who drove the "reactionary" Diaz out of the presidential job down there?

ABRAHAM LINCOLN IN THE REALM OF PROPHECY

We have recently called attention to the facility with which certain ambitious persons use the name of Lincoln, grown more sacred with each passing year, to conjure with in their attempts to promote their ambitions through the exploitation of freakish policies, more designed to catch the applause of the unthinking than to inure to the benefit of the people. It is well that the fame of the "Great Emancipator" is too securely established in the hearts and records of his countrymen to suffer from such assaults.

Lincoln was a great lawyer, a great orator and, under the inspiration of a tremendous crisis, he became a great constructive statesman. But first of all, he was a patriot. He realized that this government "could not endure, half-slave and half-free," and yet, abolitionist to the core as he was avowedly, he held off for months the proclamation of emancipation because he knew that slavery was tacitly recognized by the constitution forming the bulwark of our government and its defense against traitors within and foes without. He hoped to preserve the constitution, as well as the union and the nation. At Gettysburg, after his great work was done, he described this as "a government of the people, by the people and for the people." And such, despite the ravings of demagogues, despite the fact that some men have grown rich through oppression or greed, or have, as agitators, lured portions of the populace into strange ways and dangerous pathways, this country has ever been. Lincoln said that such a government "shall not perish from the face of the earth," and there is balm and healing for present-day unrest in that assurance.

For Abraham Lincoln was as one inspired, and he spoke often, and very reverently in the spirit of prophecy. He knew that this could not be a perfect government until men were made perfect, and he did not expect perfection to come at once. He knew that in this favored land, among the conditions which were bringing an undreamed-of prosperity and growth, we should have poverty and crime, success and wealth, disease and health, evil and good, thrift, industry, sloth and drunkenness as inevitably as we would have every manifestation of our imperfect, complex natures.

But he was never insensible of the steadily growing better as the masses were moving higher in the scale of enlightened civilization. He was wise and he was patient, and he knew that time alone would bring the millennium and that it could not be hurried by patent political nostrums or formulas

But he was never insensible of the dangers of the republic he loved and served so wonderously well. He pointed them out, not boastingly, not didactically, but modestly and warningly. It has been said that he often spoke in the spirit of prophecy, and who will doubt his inspiration when they read the following extract from an address, delivered to a club of young men in Springfield, Illinois, January 27, 1847, nearly three-quarters of a century ago:

"Ambitious men will spring up who will find no gratification in supporting and maintaining an edifice that has been erected by others. Towering genius disdains a beaten path. It seeks regions hitherto unexplored. It scorns to tread in the footsteps of any predecessor, however illustrious. It throbs and burns for distinction, and if possible it will have it.

"When such a man appears it will require the people to be united with each other, attached to government and laws and generally intelligent, to successfully frustrate his designs

"Distinction will be his paramount object, and although he will as willingly—perhaps more so—acquire it by doing good as harm, yet that opportunity being present, and nothing left to be done in the way of building up, he would set boldly to the task of pulling down."

Thirty-two years ago, four years after Samuel J. Tilden had received the popular vote of the country, and, in all truth it must be confessed, should have received the electoral vote as well, some very influential Republicans held out that General Grant was the only man who could save the party from defeat, and they maintained their stand till thirty-six ballots had been taken in the convention. But Mr Garfield went in and won by 214 electoral votes out of 369.

In one of his late interviews, Colonel Roosevelt adds insult to the injury done La Follette He declares that he did not want to be a candidate; that he did not care a snap of his finger about success or failure, but that he found the progressives needed a leader and he was therefore forced to lead.

It is more or less hard to understand the purpose of all this effort to multiply instances where Colonel Roosevelt stated that he would never again be a candidate for the presidency. He so stated and the whole reading world knows it, so what possible difference can it make whether he made such a declaration one, a dozen or a hundred times?

THE LICENSE PROPOSAL FOR OHIO SALOONS

The more the proposition is pondered, the more evident it becomes that the constitutional convention has hit upon a very fair and ample proposal in relation to the regulation and license of the liquor traffic. It retains all the present local-option laws, interferes with no prohibition now in force, but does provide for license and regulation where the saloon is not driven out by popular vote. The various regulatory requirements are properly left to the general assembly, the constitutional section containing no inhibition except the limitation of one saloon to every 500 inhabitants, and orders the revocation of license upon a second violation of any of its provisions.

The latter is its most pleasing feature. The saloon-keeper must become law-abiding, license-observing, or he can not do business. He may offend once, but the second offense shall revoke his license. The enforcement of that provision, which will be easy where the demand for license will far exceed the limit allowed, will make saloons law-abiding, eliminating the worst-offending feature of the traffic.

The limitation of one saloon to every 500 people in the municipality that tolerates, fixes the maximum number of saloons allowed. Marion, for example, might license approximately forty saloons with her present population. But the proposal leaves the municipality authority to narrow the limitation. Marion might, if it so elects, limit the licensing to one saloon for every thousand population. That would leave twenty, and be vastly preferable to forty.

All this, however, is in working out the application of the license system. The saloon, if the new proposal is approved by the people, may be prohibited under municipal or county option laws, or if tolerated, may be licensed and regulated. It is a sane, practical home rule proposition, and a decidedly advanced step over anything Ohio has ever had proposed It is not likely to diminish the liquor traffic, but it is calculated to remove many of its evils.

CHAUFFEUR KILLED BY HIS OWN HAND

Rector's Auto Driver Goes Suddenly Insane.

Danbury, Conn., March 7.—News reached here today from Brewsters, New York, that George Mead, aged thirty-one, and married, chauffeur for Rev. Frank Hartfield, rector of the Episcopal church of that place, became suddenly insane, attacked Miss Amy Hartfield, aged twenty-one, when she entered the garage with her sister, Ruby, aged twenty, and later exploded a stick of dynamite which wrecked a portion of the barn and killed Mead instantly.

The Hartfield girl, who was felled with a pair of heavy pliers, got up in time to escape and her sister, who had run for help, escaped the explosion also.

How it must jolt the wife of a blockhead when she is celebrating her wooden wedding!

Mrs Jacob Woods is confined to her home on Edwards street, on account of sickness.

TROUBLE AGAIN AT LAWRENCE

Policeman and Strike-Breaker Are Stabbed.

SCORES OF HEADS RECEIVE CRACKS

Militia Is Again Pressed into Service.

Number of Arrests Are Made—Forty-One Children Are Put on Train Bound for Philadelphia, but They Have No Money for Fare—Conductor Refuses To Credit Fares and Children Are Put Off Again.

Lawrence, Mass., March 7.—A policeman and a strike-breaking employe of the Atlantic mills were stabbed by strike pickets, scores of heads were cracked by policemen's clubs, and the police and Metropolitan park officers were beaten and mauled when several thousand strikers made an attempt to picket Essex and Union streets in South Lawrence today and precipitated the worst riot that Lawrence has seen in over ten days.

A squad of militia was called into service to aid the police in dispersing the strikers. This is the first active part the militia has taken in the strike for over a week. Scores of minor riots broke out all over the city almost simultaneously, and for an hour the police were kept busy. Fourteen arrests were made and the prisoners rushed to jail.

The employe who was stabbed was on his way to work when two men accosted him. An altercation ensued and in a free-for-all fight, the man was stabbed.

Assailants Nabbed.

A police automobile was standing a few rods down the street. It was rushed to the scene and the two assailants were captured and taken to the police station The fourteen arrests were made on charges of intimidation, disorderly conduct or similar offenses. Judge Mahoney has stated that, hereafter, he will impose the maximum penalty on any one interfering with an employe on his way to work.

One hundred police were almost swamped by the mob that massed in Essex street They drew their clubs and forced their way into the front ranks. Many women in the crowd were shoved to one side out of the way when the patrolmen charged on the strikers, using their clubs freely, while the strikers fought back with bare fists.

Officer Injured.

Patrolman Coburn, who is stationed in the Franco-Belgian district, where previously there had been little trouble, was stabbed at dawn while dispersing pickets on his beat. Coburn, with another officer, charged fifty or sixty pickets and found themselves surrounded. After a few minutes' work, they scattered the crowd Then the other patrolman noticed a great slash in the back of Coburn's uniform coat. The injury was trifling, however.

Forty-one children of the striking mill operatives left the city today on the 7:17 train for Boston on their way to Philadelphia Twenty nine policemen were detailed at the station, but found their services unnecessary. Five hundred strikers assembled to see the children off and all smiled happily over their victory in sending the children out of the city in spite of the city authorities' orders to the effect that no more children would be permitted to leave Lawrence.

Are Put Off Train.

The children rode only as far as South Lawrence. There, they were put off the train because they had no money with which to pay the fares.

In a drizzling rain, the children were taken into the station at South Lawrence to await further action on the part of their friends and relatives.

The man in charge of the children offered the conductor an order on the treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World. The conductor insisted the railroad was doing a cash and not a credit business and insisted on the party getting off the train. The conductor communicated with officials of the Boston & Maine railroad in Boston and his position was sustained.

The children were sent from South Lawrence to North Lawrence later, and there transportation arrangements were approved and they were placed on a special car on a later train and taken to Boston.

Arrive in Boston.

Boston, March 7.—The Lawrence strike children arrived at the North station at 9 o'clock and were taken to the South station to leave for New York They excited great interest at the North and South stations and crowds gathered about and watched them as they ate the breakfast provided for them.

Another Increase.

Lawrence, Mass., March 7.—Another important concession was made today by the Arlington mill, the first to offer the operatives a minimum raise in pay of five per cent. The wool combers were offered an advance of eleven per cent Should the combers accept this, it would mean an additional force of more than 1,000 at the Arlington mills.

May Mean Peace.

Boston, March 7.—A final effort was made today at the statehouse to settle the Lawrence strike at a conference attended by a strike committee, President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen company, and members of the legislative committee on conciliation. It was the first time the three elements had got together at one time.

SENATE TO TAKE UP PEACE TREATIES

Scheduled To Begin Voting on Them Late This Afternoon.

Washington, March 7.—The senate will begin voting on the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France at 4 o'clock today Senator Root started the discussion on the treaties today.

Root submitted what he said were authorized statements made by the secretary of state, who negotiated and signed the treaties, interpreting and defining them and their meaning. In the consideration of any controversy under the conventions, he said, these expressions by the secretary of state would be laid down beside the treaty itself in determining its scope. Senator Root defined the meaning of justiciable controversies as distinguished from those which with individuals were personal and wit hgovernments were national. He said justiciable questions were for the courts to determine, while personal questions were preserved for personal decisions. Following this well-established custom, he said, it was easy to define the justiciable questions which would be submitted to arbitration and the national questions which the nation itself must decide.

HUGE WAVE HITS LINER, ROTTERDAM

The Steamship Limping to New York in Crippled Condition.

New York, March 7.—The Hamburg-American liner, Rotterdam, is limping toward New York in a crippled condition as a result of the huge wave which struck the ship Monday, according to a wireless message received by the company this afternoon. The dispatch further stated that one member of the crew had been killed and two others seriously injured.

TOLEDO.

Toledo, O., March 7.—Wheat—Cash, 1.01¾; May, 1.03½; July, 1.00⅜.

Corn—Cash, 60½; May, 72¾; July, 72⅞

Oats—Cash, 55¼; May, 55¼; July, 50¾.

Seed—Cash and March, 12.65; April, 12.35.

Alsike—12.75.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 7.—Wheat opened with an easier tone this morning with prices a little higher. Firm cables and smaller northwest receipts were the strengthening influence. Offerings were more liberal and caused the market to fall back a shade. Liverpool opened ¼d higher.

Corn was off ⅛@¼c under free selling and reports of increased offerings by the country. On the whole trade was moderate

Oats were off ⅛@¼c and trade was slow and unimportant. There was some commission house selling.

Provisions were sharply lower on a decline of 5c in hogs at the yards.

Wheat—May, 1.04¼ to 1.04⅜; July, 98½ to 98⅝; September, 96¼.

Corn—May, 71¼ to 71⅛; July, 71¼ to 71⅜; September, 71¼ to 71⅛.

Oats—May, 53⅛ to 53; July, 49⅛ to 49; September, 41⅞ to 41¾.

Pork—May, 15.70 to 15.67; July, 15.92; September, 16.25.

Lard—May, 9.32 to 9.30; July, 9.47 to 9.45; September, 9.65.

Ribs—May, 8.70 to 8.72; July, 8.80.

Close—Wheat closed ¼ to ½c lower. Expectation that the government report on farm reserves tomorrow would show larger reserves than private estimates was the weakening influence. The market was nervous with continuous small changes. Liverpool closed ½ to ¾d better.

Corn was ⅛c off at the close. The sentiment was unsettled and the early strength gave way under selling to secure profits.

Oats were down ¼ to ⅜c. The market was inclined to follow corn Trade was fairly active. There was considerable selling to secure profits and shorts were the principal buyers.

Provisions were sharply lower Packers were heavy sellers. Cash demand was reported better, but the business was largely on foreign account.

Wheat—May, 1.03¾; July, 98½; September, 95⅞.

Corn—May, 71⅛ @ ¼; July, 71⅛; September, 71⅛.

"I am the same that once played on the delicate pipe of the shepherds;
Afterward, leaving the groves, I forced the neighboring fallows.
Freely to yield to the husbandman's
will, however exacting;
Farmers approved my work; but now
of Mars, and of bristling
Arms and the man I sing, who first from the Ilian sea-shore
Banished by Fate, into Italy came and Lavinum's harbor."

EXPLOSION OF GAS UNDER A SIDEWALK

Three Men Injured and a Woman Frightened.

AN ACCUMULATION OF GAS IN OLD WELL

John Pague, Thomas W. Stevens, Charles D. Neally and Mrs. Willis Kanable Are the Victims—Stevens Suffers Bad Burns—Three Men Taken to Hospital.

A terrific explosion of gas under the Main street walk, at the southwest corner of the courthouse, about three minutes after 7 o'clock Saturday evening, resulted in three men being injured, while Mrs. Willis Kanable is confined to her bed suffering of a nervous shock. The men injured are John Pague, of north State street, Thomas W. Stevens, who lives at the Pague home, and Charles D. Neally, of No. 615 Silver street.

The explosion occurred just as the streets were beginning to crowd with evening shoppers, and that it did not result in fatal injuries or loss of life is considered almost miraculous. Several women had barely passed the spot of the explosion with baby carriages while a party of about fifteen girls was headed toward the spot and was within about thirty feet of the place when the explosion occurred. Two large flag stones, over the place where the gas accumulated, were blown into many pieces, while a few of the larger parts were turned up on edge. The explosion occurred at the place where the old well, which supplied the city drinking water a number of years ago, is located, the gas undoubtedly having accumulated in the well.

Pague and Stevens, two of the victims of the accident, were selling bananas from a wagon standing along the curb at the place where the accident happened. One of the men dropped a dime and as both were looking for the coin, Stevens struck a match and moved it around close to the walk. He held the match to look into a crack between the stones, and when he did this the accumulated gas under the walk sent out a small blue blaze from the crack. Pague tried to extinguish the blaze by rubbing his foot over the crack. Failing in this, he made an effort to blow it out. Hardly had he blown on the blaze when the explosion occurred.

A Loud Report.

The report was heard for quite a distance and a number of the larger business blocks were shaken. There were a large number of witnesses to the accident, and according to them the report was accompanied by a large flash of fire and in an instant it was all over. Witnesses to the explosion ran to the assistance of the injured men and it was believed that surely one or more had been killed. Within a minute Center and Main streets were blocked by the crowd that had gathered.

According to some of the witnesses the injured men were thrown into the air a height of twenty feet, while some say that they barely left the pavement, but were hurled back. In discussing the matter after the explosion, Pague stated that he was certain he went pretty high and took a number of turns in his flight. He fell at the feet of Nate McCoy, of Columbus, business manager of the baseball club here last season, who was standing on the walk about twenty feet north of where the explosion occurred. One of the bones of Pague's left arm was broken between the elbow and wrist, his hair and eyebrows were singed off, and he was badly bruised in the region of the stomach. He was able to go to the office of Dr. James W. McMurray where he was given the necessary attention.

Stevens appeared to have suffered most as the result of the explosion. He was standing to the south of Pague and was directly over the spot where the gas had accumulated. He was thrown a short distance up and about fifteen feet to the south, landing on the walk. His shirt was almost burned off him, a small part hanging in burned shreds from his shoulders. His trousers were scorched and torn and he was believed to be fatally injured, although he was conscious and able to tell the story of how it had all happened.

Mr. Neally was doing some shopping and was just passing over the place when the explosion occurred. He was lifted off the walk and thrown east, falling on the edge of the courthouse esplanade on his hips. He was scorched but a trifle, while his hair and eyebrows were singed and his clothing torn.

Terrribly Shocked.

Mrs. Kanable was standing in the street at the rear of the wagon, waiting to make a purchase. She was terribly shocked by the explosion and left the scene in a bewildered state. She made her way to her home on Blaine avenue, where she began suffering nervous chills and medical attention was necessary.

The Hess & Markert ambulance was called immediately after the explosion and within a few minutes Stevens and Neally were taken to the Marion City hospital. Neally, who is foreman of the track work of the C., D. & M., was disposed to oppose being taken to the hospital, and stated that he was not hurt. The injury to his hips caused him great pain, however, and as he was unable to walk, he consented to an examination. He was found to be badly bruised about the hips, and will be confined to the hospital for several days.

The hair and eyebrows of Stevens were almost completely singed off, and he was terribly burned about the face, shoulders, chest and arms. He was also badly bruised over the entire body. As his burns are not deep, they are not serious and he will probably be confined not longer than a week.

That the falling pieces of stone did not strike some pedestrians is considered very fortunate. A few of the closest witnesses were showered with dirt and stone dust, while the larger pieces fell without doing injury. The large iron cover on the walk over the well, was blown quite a distance up, alighted in the middle of the street about forty feet from its old resting place.

The odor of gas in the vicinity of the explosion has frequently been spoken of by pedestrians, and but a short time before the accident Pague was asked if the smell of the gas did not make him sick. Some plumbers state that in their opinion natural gas probably came from a leak some distance away and accumulated in the old well.

Some people are of the opinion that the explosion was the result of accumulated sewer gas. One of the officials of the gas company stated after the explosion that it did not have the smell of natural gas and that there would likely have been more blaze accompanying the explosion. His belief that it was sewer gas is strengthened by the fact that the mains are on the south side of Center and the west side of Main streets.

H. J. GARVER LOSES LEFT LEG AT KENTON

Local Railroad Worker Is Badly Injured.

H. J. Garver, aged thirty years, who resides on Senate street and who is employed as a brakeman on the Chicago & Erie, suffered an accident at Kenton, Friday evening, which resulted in the loss of his left leg just above the knee.

The victim of the accident has been employed in the local yards, but a man being off duty on the local, Friday, he was called to take his place. Some cars were being switched at Kenton and Garver was on a gondola loaded with sewer pipes. In making a switch of some cars, the car on which Garver was setting a brake struck with such force as to cause some of the pipes to slide, pinning his left leg against the car and badly crushing the member.

The victim was removed to the hospital in Kenton and, Saturday, gangrene developed. Dr. A. Rhu, the Erie surgeon at this place, was called to consult with the company's surgeon at Kenton, and it was decided that it would be necessary to amputate the member to save the man's life. His parents and brother were notified, Sunday, and in order to be present before the operation it was necessary for them to make the trip to Kenton in an automobile. The victim of the accident is married and the father of a six-year-old son.

FEEDS POISONED CANDY TO CHILD

Wisconsin Mother Kills Daughter, Then Ends Own Life.

Ladysmith, Wis., March 4.—Giving her six year old daughter poison and telling her it was candy to induce her to swallow it, Ms. Carl Benson killed the child, then committed suicide. Her husband, a wealthy farmer, entering the house a few minutes later, found the two bodies stretched on the floor.

The coroner today began an investigation to determine the reason for the woman's act.

A FAREWELL AFFAIR GIVEN IN COUNTRY

A Pleasant Gathering at the Simpson Home.

Mrs. Sarah Simpson and son, Charles, who are soon to leave for Erie county, Pennsylvania, to reside, were given a farewell reception by their neighbors and friends at their home, six miles south of Marion, Friday evening. Games were played and a taffy pull was enjoyed. In a contest Mrs. I. N. Hoopman won the prize and Mr. O. W. Price was given the consolation award. A luncheon was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Kimber, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Hoopman, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Price, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Price, Mrs. E. A. Green, Mrs. W. C. Firstenberger, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. John Reckly, Mrs. Simpson, Misses Viola Flinchbaugh, Geneva Kimber, Dora Price, Mattie Nickelson, Hazel Beck, Fern, Ethel and Ruth Price, Priscilla Reckly, Flossie, Leona and Orpha Price, Messrs. Frank Beck, Harry Rider, Lloyd Nickelson, Stanley Hoopman, Roy Price, Arthur Firstenberger, Charles Simpson, Hurley Price, Albert Flinchbaugh, Oscar Reckly, Marshall Firstenberger and Mr. Rushong.

Suffers Bad Fall.

La Rue, O., March 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. A. J. Thomasson is confined to her home here as a result of a fall suffered late last week. Mrs. Thomasson slipped and fell on a flight of stairs and severely sprained her left ankle. She may be confined to her home for some time as a result of her injuries.

THE CARPE DIEM CLUB AT THE WILKINS HOME

Mrs. J. Lee Wilkins Is Hostess to the Members.

PLEASING PROGRAM GIVEN BY WOMEN

Miss Mabel Stults and Mr. Charles E. Jolliff Are United in Marriage. Will Make Future Home on a Farm Near Richwood—Village Items.

Richwood, O., March 5.—[Special]—An unusually interesting meeting was held by the Carpe Diem club, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. Lee Wilkins, of south Franklin street. Current topics were given by Mrs. E. I. Fissel, Mrs. F. L. Winter read a paper entitled "Peonage in Mexico," Mrs. S. W. Van Winkle read a splendid paper on "Mexican Home Life" and the program was brought to a close by Mrs. Joseph Embrey, in a delightful reading. Several important questions came up for discussion and considerable business was transacted by the club. The members will meet March 14 for the annual election of officers and the last program of the season will be rendered March 28, when Mrs. J. L. Horne will entertain the club at her home on east Blagrove street.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jolley have again located on their farm in Jackson township, after having spent the winter in Richwood.

Charles E. Jolliff of Richwood, and Miss Mabel Stults, of Ostrander, were married, Wednesday, in Delaware, Rev. J. D. Hawn preforming the ceremony at the Presbyterian parsonage. The bride and groom were accompanied to the minister's home by Miss Mona Ayears. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jolliff, who reside two miles southwest of Richwood. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Byron Stults, of Ostrander. The couple will begin housekeeping, soon, on the farm of the groom's father. After their marriage Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Jolliff went to Ostrander for a brief visit with the bride's parents and they were delightfully surprised that evening when eighty-four of their friends came in to spend the evening. The hours were passed very pleasantly and a fine supper was served. The bride and groom were given a miscellaneous shower their friends presenting them with numerous beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Verna Campbell was a business visitor in Delaware, Wednesday.

The Richwood school band gave a concert, Friday evening, in the opera-house, which was highly pleasing to the audience. The band was under the direction of Frederick E. Wright, who rendered a beautiful cornet solo. Miss Doris Hubbard gave a reading Mr. Walter A. Scott rendered a tuba solo, Mr. J. Earl Moss sang a baritone solo and Miss Vada Lusta Fish gave a reading. The proceeds from the entertainment were added to the band fund.

Mrs. C. D. Tracy, of south Fulton street, was hostess to the members of her Sunday-school class of the M. E. church, Thursday evening, the young men spending a very delightful evening playing games. In a contest planned by the hostess the prizes were awarded Masters Willis Young and Marian Winter. The other guests were Thaddeus Roebuck, Joseph and Edward Montrose, Lloyd Ledley, Edwin Livingston, Paul Collier, Walter Doyl, Lee Adams and Don Tracy.

A fine program was rendered, Friday afternoon, by the freshmen of Richwood High school, the young people entertaining a number of guests during the afternoon.

Thomas G. Fletcher was in Indianapolis, during the past week, having been called to that city by the serious illness of his brother.

N. P. Westheimer sold his household goods at public sale, Saturday. Mr. Westheimer expects to reside with Mr. and Mrs. James Dugan, who will occupy the south side of the Westheimer residence, on north Franklin street. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hodge have rented the north half of the large dwelling.

Mrs. Daisy Black, a saleslady at Carmean's store has been seriously ill during the past week, at the home of Mrs. David Carr.

The Premier Hand Carpet Cleaner

A Brief Comparison

All hand carpet cleaners except the "Premier" either requires the services of two persons to operate them, or, at their best, they require two hands and genuine muscular exertion to remove a satisfying quantity of dirt.

You will actually enjoy using the "Premier," not only occasionally, but for daily sweeping.

The only "one-handed" hand carpet cleaner you can buy. The "PREMIER" occupies but little space and is not awkward in any degree.

No other hand cleaner compares with the "PREMIER" because scientific and practical rules have never before been followed in the manufacture of other makes.

INANITION IS THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. Paris Grabell Lose a Little One.

Lillian, the one-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Grabell, of Fountain street, died of inanition at the family residence, Monday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. The mother is only sixteen years old and her condition is quite serious. The young father is in Roanoke, Virginia.

DEVOTED TO FAITH.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for March 10 is, "Jesus the Healer." Mark 1:29-45. Golden Text, Matthew VIII:17.

A group of men who have closely studied the progress of the men and religion movement were discussing it the other day. With absolute unanimity they agreed that the aspect of the movement which has made the greatest impression in every city visited is the social service message. The idea that Christianity is interested in the practical things of our day, that it cares what wages men are receiving, and for their physical welfare, as expressed in better housing and sanitation, and that it is concerned about their amusements and their political affairs, is really new to many persons. As one man said, "why, I thought that religion meant simply going to church." The vision of the truth that religion means the church going to the people interested and inspired him.

The most observant of the Christian leaders of our time are convinced that the gospel for today must be expressed in terms of service. All the modern social movements, be they college settlements or new political parties, are an expression of a deep desire for the great realities of practical religion. Ours is not a doctrinal age—would that it were more so—yet it is quick to hear that first doctrine of Christianity, love in action. Jesus lived a life before he taught a truth. His deeds outran his words. A church that renders service as well as holds services catches the attention and wins the allegiance of the people of our time. The stir that was created in Philadelphia by the social service message of the men and religion movement started some conservative folks at first; but as the days have passed it has been discovered that this phase of Christianity has gripped the great body of people as no other word could do.

Growing Up to Jesus.

Thirty years ago the idea of "social Christianity" meant nothing bigger than a church sociable. The few men who were beginning to glimpse this phase of Christ's example and teaching were looked upon as faddists. Josiah Strong, who was a prophet of this message is still alive to recall the days when ministers' meetings looked askance at his statements of truths which all of Christendom has accepted and beyond which most Christian leaders have now gone. It is really difficult for the modern man to realize that this present era of the preeminence of the thought of social service was undreamed of a generation ago, nowadays it is a poor preacher indeed who cannot support and vindicate the social message of the gospel.

The plain truth is that all times are forever rising up to the level of Christ. The world outgrows some men; Jesus it is ever striving to grow up to. The last word in modern social service is the example and message of Jesus. He "went about doing good." The attention of his world and time was attracted to Him by what he did rather than by what He said. His miracles were at the time His mightiest message. He spent Himself to the last spark of his vitality in behalf of people. His life burned so brightly that it consumed Him in ministry. His message, beyond which no modern social preachment goes, was "not to be ministered unto, but to minister," and to give His life a ransom for many.

The modern social gospel is not a new religion, it is merely an entrance into the religion which Jesus practiced and preached. This present Sunday-school lesson is best understood as a little study in applied Christianity. It is an illustration of the modern social service program of the Church.

Creating a Commotion.

The background of the lesson is lovely Galilee, with its rolling hills, its rich gray olive trees, so soft and beautiful in all hints, and its multitude of beautiful flowers, with the lake itself in all its varying moods, as a constant influence upon the life of the people. Those were country folk of simple ways. The wonder is that the personality of Jesus still holds true to type, even when introduced into our modern complex civilization. That life was lived among the peasants and the fishermen whose interests were few and trivial.

To them came the news of this new Teacher, with His wonderful works and His strange words. Through the countryside ran the tidings of His miracles of healing. The report strangely moved people. A commotion was created throughout the countryside. As women gathered at the village wells, morning and evening, they talked of the latest bit of news from the new Teacher and Healer at Capernaum. Travellers bore the tidings from village to village. The leisurely East sent its representatives to see for themselves what Jesus was doing. He created a real commotion.

And why not? Part of the outcry against sensational preaching is foolish, and part is based on a misapprehension. If preaching is alive and is true, it ought to create a sensation. Jesus came to stir the world. A minister may question his call if he is not causing people to talk; and to talk about the higher things instead of the lower, about holiness instead of evil, about God instead of about the trivialities of barren lives.

The Cry of the City.

This story shows a city astir. Capernaum was all agog over the sensational work of the new young Rabbi. His place of sojourn was thronged, and the record runs that "all the city was gathered at the door." What a congregation of the suffering and needy the narrative pictures! So great was the multitude, so terribly the pressure upon His vitality, that a long time before it was day, Jesus arose and went into the desert place for that spiritual replenishing which He always found in communion with the Father. His disciples, excited by these new and unprecedented events, at the center of which they found themselves, said unto Him, "All men seek for Thee."

The sight of a city seemed to exercise a strange power over the imagination of Jesus. He was moved with compassion when he looked upon a city, in its multitude of needs. In Vienna I saw a picture of a modern French school, "Jesus Weeping over the City," but it was not the city of David, with the temple and the walls; it was a modern industrial city, with smoke-stacks towering higher than its steeples, and with its tenements teeming with life. We know that today as Jesus looks upon the great urban centers of our own time He is moved with pity, even as when he looked at the Capernaum crowd, or the multitudes in the capital of His nation.

The modern movement of men which attempts to stir cities as a whole is in line with the example of Jesus. The day of parochialism is dead or dying. Christian leaders can no longer afford to think in terms of the single church or congregation—although the new day will exalt rather than diminish the real place of the church. The men and religion idea of the city campaigns is merely the example of Jesus at Capernaum brought down to date. It is Christianity's effort to hear and answer the cry of the city. If the gospel today is not able to get a hearing from the city, and to lift up the city's life, then there is profound inadequacy in our presentation of the gospel.

The Hidden Hungers.

The crowds out of sight in our modern life thrill one with fear and with inspiration. Whenever there is a great disaster, like the San Francisco fire, there seem to appear, like rats from the wharves and sewers, a horde of ghouls, dead to all human instincts. Where were they all the while, during the days of the city's undisturbed conventionality? What of the mob of rioters who stone and kill and defy the law? What shall we say of the lynchers who have never had an opportunity to commit a lynching? Equally out of sight are the hosts of good people,—the heroic hearts quick to respond to a country's appeal for soldiers, the generous givers to every good cause that may be brought to their attention, the legions who leap to respond to the call of brotherhood.

Still other hidden hosts are those symbolized by the sick and lame and blind and deaf and paralyzed and otherwise physically needy, who are brought to the feet of Jesus for help. The amount of illness which a city shelters is appalling. The number of men and women who are suffering in their bodies is far greater than the thoughtless crowd realizes. Other and graver needs there are, all hidden from the passing eye. Beaten spirits, blasted hopes, cowering fears—these throng our city life on every hand, concealed from the undiscerning by outward masks of prosperity and conventionality. The hungry hearts all about us are indicated by the way men and women reach out after every novel form of religion that appears. This questing for a new faith which disturbs so many Christian leaders is but the inarticulate cry for help of multitudes whose need is deep and real and who, though they often know it not, are hungry for the healing which Jesus gave to the seemingly multitudes at Capernaum.

The Helped as Heralds.

This is an age of advertising, yet we have not improved at all upon the experience of Jesus at Capernaum, when the grateful recipients of his healing touch went out and began to publish it abroad, and to spread abroad the matter, insomuch that Jesus could no more openly enter into a city, but was without in desert places, and they came to him from every quarter."

A familiar trade phrase expresses the principle. "We are advertised by our living friends." There is no other form of advertising to equal this. This gospel is spread by the heralding of people who have felt its benefits. Many a man, the tidings have been borne, that Jesus possesses the power to heal and help. Because He has brought salvation and peace to a person, that person is constrained to tell another, and so the news has gone on spreading; and so it will continue to spread until the fashion of Capernaum has advertised the Healer and the Redeemer to every part of the world.

Is Dangerously Ill.

Dr. G. T. Harding received a telegram, Tuesday afternoon, telling him of the extremely critical condition of his aged sister, Mrs. Phoebe Mercer, of Galion, who fell several weeks ago and broke her right hip. She is not expected to recover. Dr. Harding went to Galion, Tuesday evening.

The poorer the sermon the longer it is.

HARRY ARMSTRONG GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

Indictment Against Him Is Nolled This Morning.

PECULIAR ACTIONS OF CHIEF WITNESS

Man Who Causes Indictment Positively Refuses To Come Here from Massachusetts and Court Takes Action—Notes of Court of Common Pleas.

The indictment in the case of the State of Ohio against Harry Armstrong was nolled by Judge William E. Scofield on recommendation of Prosecutor Charles L. Justice, Monday.

Some very peculiar features enter into the matter. Armstrong has been in jail several months, being held to answer to a charge of burglarizing an Erie boxcar and stealing about eighty-five pairs of shoes being shipped by the M. A. Packerd company, of Brocton, Massachusetts, to a firm in Crown Point, Indiana.

Detective Ellsworth, of the Erie, found some time after the burglary that Armstrong had sold shoes to various parties about the city at two dollars a pair, and his investigations led to the arrest of Armstrong. Mr. Marville, a partner in the Brocton shoe company, came here, or was brought here by the Erie company, and on the strength of his identifying the shoes Armstrong was indicted for burglary and larceny. The trial was set for last December, but on representations of Marville that members of his family were ill and he could not leave Brocton, the case was continued and was set down for trial March 5. Marville was notified through the proper channels as to the date of trial, and then Prosecutor Justice received a letter from the shoe concern stating that Marville's presence in Boston was necessary because of sickness in his family and business. The letter contained the information that the concern regarded Marville's presence at home of far more importance than his appearance in court. The prosecutor being without power to call a witness from beyond the confines of the state, and the presence of Marville being absolutely necessary for the state to make a case, the court nolled the indictment when the situation was explained. But for the statements of Marville to the grand jury and his representations that he would come here as a witness when wanted, Armstrong would not have been indicted. He was released from jail Monday morning.

No cases will be tried by jury, this week, and all jurors have been notified not to appear for service until March 12.

In the injunction matter of Otto Schlagel against Auditor Jay Spaulding as to the construction of the Berringer pike in Richland township, a motion to dismiss the injunction will be argued March 11.

In the matter of S. N. Abel and others against H. N. Oberlander, a motion for a new trial in the court of common pleas has been overruled.

In the proceeding of the International Harvester company against George W. Parish and others, an attachment suit, a motion for a new trial has been overruled.

In the suit of Carey T. Wiant against John W. Clark and others, a judgment for $108 has been recorded.

On motion of the attorneys for the defendants in the contested will case of N. E. Thatcher against Francis T. Crosby and others, the plaintiff has been required to secure the costs in the action by March 14.

A demurrer to the petition in the suit of Mary H. Courtney against James B. Bolander and others has been overruled. The defendant has been given leave to answer by March 23.

In the suit of J. B. Bolander against Charles H. Conley and others a demurrer to the petition has been overruled, and the defendants have been given leave to answer by March 16.

The partition matter of William Ogden Martin against Orthia Martin was disposed of Monday. An order of sale of the premises involved was set aside, and the election of Walter B. Whitbead to take under the will and take the premises at the appraisement was approved. The sheriff has been directed to make a deed and convey the premises.

A demurrer to a reply in the suit of Sarah A. Tonguet against Michael Tonguet has been overruled.

William Lust has begun a suit against Luther C. Hatcher and others to recover the sum of $805 on a promissory note.

In the divorce proceeding and injunction matter of Minnie Fetter against W. P. Fetter, the temporary injunction was dissolved by the court, Monday, and the petition for divorce was dismissed. The proceedings were thrown out of court because the plaintiff failed to prosecute her claims within a reasonable time.

David Himmeger, whose wife got a divorce and was awarded $10 a month alimony for the support of their child, was up before Judge W. E. Scofield, Monday, on a citation to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt. Himmeger said he was married again and needed about all he made. He also said his former wife was married and that the child was being well taken care of. He was released and warned to pay $10 a month or go to jail. He said he would pay. Himmeger is a butcher.

In the partition suit of Mollie Butler against Martha Underwood and others, John H. Bain, S. B. Lippincott and P. W. Fetter have been appointed commissioners.

CAPTAIN A. L. BOND RECEIVES HIS MONEY

Amount of Judgment in Court of Justice Gompf.

Secretary S. H. DeLong, of the sinking fund trustees, who, under the law, is authorized to pay all final judgments against the city, greatly relieved the anxiety of City Auditor Harry E. Mason, late Monday afternoon, when he gave Justice Charles E. Gompf a check for the full amount of the judgment obtained by Police Captain A. L. Bond against the city for the half month he was laid off by former Director James A. Knapp without pay. The justice had issued attachment papers on the city safe in the office of the auditor, who prevented Constable Joseph Long from serving them by hastily closing his office and disappearing, Saturday afternoon.

Bond was suspended as a result of charges growing out of the Rose county local option campaign last November and was later exonerated. He then sued the city for the amount of the pay due him and this, together with the costs, totaled $74.70.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT AND SHOOTING AFFAIR

Jesse McWherter Is Shot at Dance at Woods Home.

M'WHERTER SUFFERS A DANGEROUS WOUND

Name of the Man Who Uses Gun Is Unknown—Victim of the Shooting Starts Trouble and Suffers as Result—Such Dances To Be Prohibited in Future.

A free-for-all fight at a dance at the home of Mrs. James S. Woods, of Edwards street, shortly after 10 o'clock Monday evening, culminated in a shooting affray as a result of which Jesse McWherter is confined to the home of his sister, of Fahey street, suffering of a bullet wound in his left thigh.

The shooting occurred on the outside of the Woods' home and none of the participants seem to know who did the shooting. According to the story secured by the police, McWherter attended the dance in an intoxicated condition and tried to start a "rough-house." He was ejected by one of the attendants and a fight on the outside took place a few minutes later.

James Allen and McWherter were the participants in this fight, and Allen was giving McWherter a beating, when Vint Berridge, who was playing the violin for the dancers, went outside and stopped Allen from beating McWherter. Most of the guests at the dance went outside to see the trouble. The Woods woman engaged in an argument with McWherter, claiming he struck her twice. McWherter asked to see her husband, and when the latter appeared it is claimed McWherter struck at him. Berridge, who had been friendly to McWherter, tried to remonstrate with him, and asked him to leave without trouble. McWherter asked Berridge if he was his friend, and when the latter replied that he was, McWherter struck him on the left eye, knocking him down.

A Revolver Shot.

According to Berridge he was just getting up when he heard the report of a revolver. He says he does not know who had the weapon, as there were a number of men and boys in the direction from where the shot was fired.

Berridge was wearing a pair of heavy glasses when McWherter struck him. He claims that McWherter wore a pair of brass knuckles. Berridge was cut just above and below the eye, but his glasses were not broken.

Officer Powell was not far from the scene of the shooting and hearing two revolver shots he rushed to the scene. The officer took charge of McWherter and as the wounded man did not want to be taken to a hospital, he was taken to police headquarters. From here he was taken in a rig to the home of Drs. A. and H. S. Rhu where the latter surgeon extracted the bullet.

The bullet removed from McWherter is from a thirty-two caliber revolver and is of the steel jacket type. The ball entered just below the left thigh, passing almost through the leg. It struck the bone and narrowly missed the femoral artery, which if struck would have caused the death of McWherter. The attending surgeon stated Tuesday morning that the condition of the victim of the shooting is dangerous.

To Stop Such Dances.

Tuesday morning, the police took Vint Berridge and his son, Neil, who was also playing at the dance, to headquarters to try and get some information that would lead to the arrest of the gun user. Neither was able to tell much that would assist the officers. Following the shooting, Captain Bond ordered the Woods woman to discontinue holding dances at her home, and she seemed willing to comply. Another view of the trouble is that it originated with Neil Berridge showing too much affection for the woman to whom McWherter is said to have taken a fancy.

The mayor stated, Tuesday, that there have been many complaints and a number of fights as a result of the dances at the Woods home, but that it is not the only place where such gatherings have led to trouble. As a result of Monday night's affair, several arrests will probably be made, and an order will be issued to a number of persons to discontinue holding dances.

TWO ARRESTS FOLLOW M'WHERTER SHOOTING

Edna Woods and James Allen Taken into Custody.

JAMES ALLEN GIVEN HEARING BY MAYOR

McWherter Is Unable To Appear as a Witness—Parties Who Attend Dance Where the Shooting Is Done Are Called into Court. Some Testimony Adduced.

As a result of the shooting affray at the home of Mrs. James Woods, of Edwards street, Monday night, Chief McDonough filed affidavits in the mayor's court, Tuesday afternoon, charging Edna Woods, the owner of the house, and James Allen, who lives at the Woods home, with assault and battery.

They were arrected, Tuesday afternoon. When arraigned before the mayor, they entered pleas of not guilty to the charge. The assault is alleged to have been made on Jesse McWherter, who was shot in the left leg as the result of a fight at a dance at the Woods home, Monday night. Their hearings were set for Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. In default of bond. Allen was committed to prison, while the Woods woman was allowed to go home on her promise to appear Wednesday morning.

As McWherter was unable to appear against her, Wednesday, her case was continued, and the case against Allen was taken up. With a view to clearing up the trouble and finding the party guilty of the shooting, Chief McDonough worked part of Tuesday afternoon, securing the names of some of the witnesses to the trouble. They were ordered to appear, Wednesday, as witnesses.

Vint Berridge, who furnished the music at the dance, and who received a discolored eye as the result of McWherter striking him, was the first witness called He reviewed the story of the fight, and the circumstances which led to the shooting, but could give no information as to who fired the shot which wounded McWherter. Other witnesses called were Mrs Nora Hinton, Bertha Markley, Ola Allen, C. W. Berridge, a son of Vint Berridge; Harley Lowery and the defendant in the case.

Testimony Adduced.

The defendant was represented by Attorney L. E. Myers, and the prosecution was conducted by City Solicitor Fred W. Warner. According to the testimony of the witnesses, McWherter appears to have been the promoter of the trouble. The motion of the defendant's attorney to dismiss the case was overruled, and Allen was then called to testify in his own behalf.

As a result of the investigation made by the police, it was learned that the Allen girl has been living at the Berridge home little more than a week. The officers reported to Probation Officer S. N. Titus and Humane Officer J. W. Cish that the girl will not be seventeen years old until the last of March, and that she has no been conducting herself properly Wednesday, the girl told the officers that she came here about six weeks ago and worked at the silk mills about four weeks. She quit the mills to work at the Berridge home. The girl stated that her parents formerly lived here, but are now living in Wood county, and that she ran away to come here. The officers secured her promise that she would return home at once, and in case she does not keep her promise, she will be taken in charge.

The humane and probation officers informed Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Hinton, each of whom have two children, that unless they stopped attending such dances and conduct themselves properly in the future, their children will be taken from them.

After hearing all the evidence the mayor reserved his decision until 2:30 o'clock that afternoon. At that time he found that there was probable cause for binding Allen over to the grand jury, and he fixed the bond of the defendant at $200. As McWherter will not be able to appear for more than a month, the case against Mrs. Woods was dismissed.

THE RAILROADS.

John McNeal, depot agent for Wells Fargo & Company's Express, had a very narrow escape form serious injury, while he, with Transferman D W. Courtney, was handling some trunks of crushed ice at the union station, Wednesday. The men crush the ice and store it in big trunks for use on the trains. A truck load on the platform was overturned. McNeal was struck and considerably injured, but was able to continue his work. Fortunately he was sufficiently out of the way, so as not to receive the full force of the overturned load.

The Erie has been compelled to pay $100 to the federal authorities on account of the alleged failure to comply with the safety appliance act. An N. & W. car was transferred from the Marion yards to the Pennsylvania interchange track here recently, and during that time a hand-brake staff was missing on the car. This was noticed by the federal inspectors and resulted in the road being fined. A special bulletin has been issued to the men here regarding the matter, and, in this the men are asked to take notice of any cars defective in such a manner and report to the officials. The officials hope that this trouble may be averted as far as possible in the future.

Two slight wrecks occurred on the Erie here, Wednesday. An extra westbound freight, while entering the "eating house" track near Leader street had the caboose derailed, about 7 o'clock that morning, as a result of a switch being thrown before the train was clear of the tracks according to the railroad men. The wrecker was called to put the caboose on the tracks. A gondola car was thrown across the tracks at the Erie roundhouse, Wednesday, and caused some delay.

The work in the division offices of the Erie in the new quarters in the Huber block was begun in earnest, Wednesdal. Some new furniture will arrive here shortly and will be installed. The following officials on the staff of Superintendent C. A. Allen are here. W. P. Kimble, division engineer; J. T. Cathers, assistant division engineer; W. Pelham, master carpenter; E. O. Rodgers, supervisor of interlocking, and W. T. Smith, foreman of water supply. A. L. Conrad, chief clerk and W. S. McNeal, chief train despatcher, are also here. The men under Mr. Conrad are E. E. Miller, assistant chief clerk, and F. J. Hart, H. Albright, Solomon Zeive, Walter Mason, L. H. Sharp, L. M. Dall, V. M. Burden, J. W. Neff, Walter Christy and Paul Robbins. W. S. McNeal is day chief despatcher and E. C. Robbins, a brother of Walter J. Robbins, first-trick operator at Erie A C tower, is night chief despatcher. The despatchers are E. B. Dressler, W. Biehl, C. B. Mochel, M. L. Welch, F. Eberhart, A. L. Covalt, W. W. Walker, W. F. Sharrock, Jay Phelps, T. J. Ballenger and P. Reuch. The operators are E. A. Armstrong, John Organ, M. C. Murphy, A. H. Koons and P. Knauss. R. E. Rafferty, car distributor is also here.

THE FAILURES OF PRESIDENT ARE MANY

Some of Them Are Pointed Out by a Milwaukee Paper.

Let us now proceed to examine the shocking "failures" which have alienated from President Taft the ten most prominent Republicans who now oppose him and support Roosevelt.

He signally failed to retain Jimmy Garfield in the cabinet.

He failed to put up with the impertinence of Gifford Pinchot, and failed to such an extent that he fired Gifford from his job.

He failed to return Charles R. Crane as minister to China after that valuable alleged diplomat had developed symptoms of the foot and mouth disease.

He failed to see the merits of certain judgeship recommendations of National Committeeman Lyons, of Texas, and in one case actually chose a Democrat as the better man.

He failed to appoint a nominee of Stubbs, of Kansas, and failed so hard as to call Stubbs down for not stating facts.

He failed to keep Ormsby McHarg annexed to his job as assistant secretary of commerce and labor, and Ormsby has been caterwauling about the failure ever since.

He failed to appoint several of Dan Hanna's nominees for federal judges.

And in the same category with the aggrieved Dan must be put Walter Brown, likewise modest about patronage.

He failed to appoint State Committee Chairman Lee, of Indiana, United States marshal.

So, of course, these disinterested patriots consider Taft's administration a series of failures, and are exhibiting their respective sore toes in proof of them. What better proof could be asked by any fair-minded member of the sore toe brigade?—Milwaukee Sentinel.

MRS. EMMA SCOFIELD DIES TUESDAY NIGHT

Falls a Victim to Dropsy and Bright's Disease.

GREAT PREPARATIONS FOR A MASS MEETING

Gathering at Columbia Theater Next Sunday.

Great preparations are being made for the mass meeting to be held, next Sunday afternoon, at the Columbia theater, at which time Evangelist Evarts, who is conducting services at the Trinity Baptist church, will give his confidential talk to men only.

A souvenir song sheet with words and music, will be presented every man present. A fine musical program is being arranged which will help in making it a most enjoyable hour.

The local Y. M. C. A. will cooperate with the Trinity Baptist church people at the service, and a full house is expected. Miss Ladzinski will sing "My Mother's Hand," a beautiful solo especially adapted to a service of this character.

SLAYS WIFE AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

Tragedy Enacted at Fremont Early This Morning.

Fremont, O., March 6.—After vainly beseeching his wife to return to him, Henry Dorman killed her and then committed suicide by shooting himself in front of the Hotel Jackson today.

Mrs. Dorman secured a divorce from her husband and came here a year ago from Columbus.

Y. M. C. A.

Class in Telegraphy.

As a result of the gift of fifteen new telegraph instruments to the Y. M. C. A. by the Western Union Telegraph company, the association is now equipped to open a class in telegraphy in connection with the educational department. All boys desirous of learning telegraphy will be given particulars by calling at the association building. During the early part of the winter, the local association requested the manager of the Western Union to furnish fifteen old instruments. The company instead sent fifteen new instruments, and a man from Indianapolis to install them. This gives the local association a telegraph department equal to that of the largest associations of the state.

OBITUARY.

Close—Maude Close, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Close, was born March 3, 1889 at the home where she died February 15, 1912. She was aged twenty-two years, eleven months and twelve days. She was united in marriage to F. M. Smith, june 28, 1908. Aside from her husband, she is survived by two children, one aged three years and the other thirteen months. Three brothers, Ora, Floyd and Roy, together with the parents survive, with a circle of relatives and friends who deeply mourn their loss. When very young she was converted and baptized in the United Brethren church. During her illness she suffered greatly, but bore her suffering with patience.

EXAMINERS FILE THEIR REPORT

Some Points as to the Expenditures of Commissioners.

John H. Bartram and E. W. Schoenlaub who were apointed to make an examination of the report of the county commissioners in connection with Prosecutor Charles L. Justice have filed their report.

The report states that the records are kept neatly and in good order, and from looking over the records the examiners find there are no sinecures on the pay roll. It is also found that some confusion has arisen because of uncertain statutes providing for the manner of proceedure of the commissioners under certain circumstances.

A mistaken idea as to the burial of ex-soldiers, their widows and orphans at public expense is manifest in the report. The sum of $1,725 was expended during the past year for this purpose and the examiners are of the opinion that while the law only applies to the indigent, there have been many burials at public expense where the parties were not indigent

Some laxity is found in the acceptance of sureties on contracts for pikes and care is urged in the acceptance of such sureties. It is also urged that great care be exercised in the tabulation of bids for contracts for supplies, etc., to make sure that the lowest-and-best bidder secures his due.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY GATHERING

An Interesting Program Is Given by Members.

An interesting meeting was held by the Marion County Medical society at the Marion Public library building, Tuesday evening. The attendance was excellant. Dr. Wells Teachnor, teacher of rectal surgery, and Dr. D. H. Deuschle, teacher of diseases of the nervous system, in the Ohio Medical college in Columbus, were present and each read a very interesting paper. The papers were thoroughly discussed by the physicians.

The next meeting will be held the first Tuesday of April.

LINCOLN AND ROOSEVELT.

The Dred Scott decision was overruled by the civil war. There was no "recall" or anything like it. Mr. Lincoln, indeed, criticized the court, as he had a right to do. Mr. Roosevelt's idea seems to be that the objection to his wild words about the courts and to his foolish and dangerous scheme for controlling them, is simply an objection to all criticism. So, when he finds that Mr. Lincoln did criticise the courts he imagines that he has found a justification of his own extravagance. Mr. Lincoln is no authority for the former president on this subject. Mr. Lincoln was a man of the widest and most patient tolerance, and of the soundest and soberest political views. He would have looked on the recall of judges as a revolution, would have denounced as the wildest folly the Roosevelt scheme to permit the people to vote on judicial decisions that did not please them.—Indianapolis News.

SUPREME COURT GIVES ITS DECISION

Loring J. Smith Loses Contention in His Defense.

A Columbus special to the Cincinnati Enquirer Wednesday says:

For the second time in rapid succession the supreme court knocked out the endeavor of Loring J. Smith, of Marion, now under two-year penitentiary sentence for embezzlement, to avoid defending himself in the supreme court by having his summons quashed on highly involved technicalities.

The suit was defended in the lower court on the ground that Smith never embezzled "money," and his dismissal was solemnly asked for on the ground that the money he abstracted from the funds of the defunct Ohio Milling & Elevator company had been drawn by check, without conversion to cash, applied as a credit on certain notes which Smith owed at the bank. The efforts to avoid summons having been overruled, it is probable the case will be decided on the allegations of error in the near future.

THE SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. M. CONDON

Mrs. Prendergast Hears of a Sister's Death at Toledo.

Mrs. J F. Prendergast received a distressing message announcing the sudden and wholly unexpected death of her sister, Katherine, wife of Mr. M. Condon, of Toledo. Mrs. Condon's death was not preceded by any but a momentary illness, and makes the first break in the family of sisters. Deceased was about fifty years of age and leaves a husband and five children.

Mrs. Prendergast left for Toledo Wednesday afternoon.

COMMON PLEAS COURT.

In the partition suit of Emma L. Weirick against John W. Robinson and others the reply of J. A. Sutton, administrator, to the answer of Clara Mawyer, a general denial of allegations in the answer, was filed Wednesday. Later the court found it would be necessary to sell the real estate involved. A notice of appeal was given and the appeal bond was fixed at $500.

Owing to the death of Eliza Cratty, a change was made in the style of the partition suit of Benton E. Fish against Samuel A. Fish. The cause was ordered revived in the name of Maria Winter and others, heirs of Eliza Cratty. The fact of the death of Eliza Cratty was not brought to the attention of the court until the case was taken up for trial Wednesday.

In the matter of Jennie H. Guthery against Frances M. Baldwin, an appeal case, the plaintiff's judgment of $136.80 has been confirmed by Judge W. E. Scofield.

The appeal case of R. E. Ramsey against the Chicago & Erie Railway company has been settled at the costs of the defendant.

The suit of Samuel Rush against the Chicago & Erie Railway company has been settled at the costs of the defendant company.

In the attachment proceeding of Joseph A. Miller against Lovida J. Layman, the sale of the property involved has been confirmed by the court and a deed ordered.

THE LODGES.

At a well-attended meeting of Kosciusko Lodge, No. 58, I. O. O. F., Monday night, Louis Bailer resigned as captain of the East End membership team, and Paul Blair was elected in his place. John E. Davis and Edward Throckmorton were chosen as lieutenants for the newly-elected captain. The membership campaign is progressing very favorably and the probabilities are that by April 29, the date fixed for the official ending of the contest, the lodge membership will have been greatly increased.

Two candidates were initiated at a largely-attended meeting of Marion Temple, No. 381, Pythian Sisters, Tuesday evening. Following the business session, a social was given in honor of Mrs. Zed Gunder, the excellent chief of the order, who is soon to join her husband for an extended visit in the South. The lodge presented Mrs. Gunder a lodge pin.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Mizpah Encampment, No. 50, I. O. O. F., met in regular session, Tuesday evening, and aside from transacting the routine business accepted three applications for membership. The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

A special meeting of Marion Chapter, No. 62, Ropal Arch Masons, was held at the Masonic temple, Tuesday evening, and was quite well attended. The past and most excellent master's degree were conferred on a class of candidates. No other business of importance was transacted.

The social committee of Lydia Chapter, No. 83, Order of Eastern Star, will give a dance for the members of the order and their families at the Masonic temple, Monday evening, March 11.

Intending to move to Marion, L. Bolen living east of Marion on the Marion and Caledonia pike, will hold a public sale of all stock, farm implements, etc., on Monday, March 18, at 10 o'clock. wky-1-p

REVIVAL MEETINGS AT EPWORTH CHURCH

Interest in the Meetings Is Growing Rapidly.

A LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS FINE ADDRESS

Dr. C. R. Havighurst Talks of "The Sin That Can Not Be Forgiven." God Speaks to His Children in Many Ways—Calls Them To Come to Him—The Sermon.

The interest in the revival meetings at the Epworth M. E. church continues to grow from night to night. Another large audience was present, Tuesday evening, and from the very beginning the spirit of earnest prayer and deep conviction pervaded the entire service. Miss Carmen Blow sang very feelingly "For You I Am Praying," which moved many to tears. After the sermon, an altar service was held and four persons were clearly and definitely converted.

The pastor, Dr. C. R. Havighurst, preached on "The Sin That Can Not Be Forgiven," using for his text, Hebrews 4:7, "Today if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts."

"You can scarcely step out into God's beautiful world without hearing God's voice, if you have an ear to hear," said Dr. Havighurst. "There is not a tree that rears its crest, no flower that cleaves the sod, no bird that sings above its nest, but tries to speak the name of God. God is continually speaking to us through nature, in the silent pomp of the noiseless night, in the moon walking through the heavens with its bewitching beauty, in the morning dawn and in the outbursting of the noontide splendor.

"God speaks to us through the common events and experiences of life, in joy as well as in sorrow, in calamities of life as well as in its properities. God's messages are not all draped in black. He calls to us in His word, but especially by the voice of His spirit, which has been heard by every man in the inner chamber of his soul. He chides us when we do wrong and approves of us when we do right. And, even now, while I speak to you, He is whispering in your heart, 'Now come to Christ; now repent of your sins; I have loved thee with an everlasting love; I will save you from your sins.'

"But while God is calling, what will happen to us if we refuse to hear? Man has the awful power of stopping his ears against God. There is such a thing as spiritual deafness. By contiual resistance, a man may come to a state where he has lost the power to hear. Usually this result is not effected by a single act. Jesus tells us that if we sin and blaspheme against the Holy Spirit it shall not be forgiven us either in this world or the world to come. But usually that sin is not committed in any one single act of a man's life. True, a man may, with a dare-devil spirit of wickedness, in one moment hurl defiance in the face of the Almighty and deliberately show the fist to God, and in so doing may banish the Holy Spirit from his heart forever. But usually this sin results from a process in life. It is by constant resistance to the Holy Spirit and a continued refusal to hearken, that a man comes to a stage when his heart becomes hard, obdurate and unsusceptible to the influences of the Spirit, and the sad word must be uttered, 'The door is shut.' God never shuts the door. God's door always stands wide open into which any man may run and be saved. It is man that shuts the door. There is hope for you if you will only repent and believe."

$4,223,138,080 IS TOTAL OF REALTY IN OHIO

State Tax Commission Files Its Report Tuesday.

Ohio's total real estate valuation was increased from $1,656,944,631 in 1910 to $4,223,138,080, according to the annual report of the state tax commission for 1911, which was completed yesterday. The value of the property of the public utilities was increased from $263,191,480 to $912,862,833. The report says there are 231 public utilities in the state which have been evading taxation in the past.

The largest increase was made in the valuation of electric light companies. Natural gas companies also came in for a big advance.

"The last four decennial appraisements of real estate, the report says, "were not only a useless waste of money and an annoyance to property owners, but were also a farce. Values in the aggregate were not changed materially, and it is doubted if the changes made resulted in a better equalization of this class of properties between counties and cites or between individuals."

N. Miller will offer at public sale Thursday, March 14, on the Riley farm, 3 mies southwest of Marion, his entire stock of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, etc., also 400 bushels corn, 75 bushels of seed oats, hay, fodder and farm implements.

TAFT TIRES OF TEODY'S TACTICS

Roosevelt Has Been Engaged for Months

IN ASSAILING THE POLICIES OF TAFT

Now Executive Will Take a Hand at Game.

President Refuses Longer To Stand for Misrepresentation, Whether by the So-Called Progressives or the Colonel Himself—Resents the Attempts of the Opposition To Misquote His Utterances.

Washington, March 6.—President Taft's first political utterance since the announcement of Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy will be made in Toledo, Ohio, Friday, when he will speak before the Commerce club of that city.

On the next day, the president will go to Chicago, where he will speak three times and perhaps four. Two of these speeches will be political the remainder will not.

The Toledo-Chicago trip will be used by Mr. Taft to reply to the Columbus speech of Colonel Roosevelt and will be made the occasion for the acceptance of the challenge contained in the Roosevelt announcement of his candidacy.

The president is being urged by some of his friends not to precipitate a personal controversy between himself and Colonel Roosevelt by "calling names" in any of these speeches and not to make pointed references to the Rooseveltian arguments with or without names.

Opinions Differ.

These friends take the position that under the circumstances, a dignified attitude on the part of the president will win him more favor than would a pitched battle and that a bitter, conflict would do more to divide the party than all the difference of opinion that has ever existed as to issues.

There are some reasons to believe that this class of the president's advisers is making headway. Mr. Taft has told friends that he does not mean to run the former president through, either in these speeches or in any to come. He has not yet promised, however, to let the Columbus speech go unanswered and stand as a good Republican doctrine.

There are others among the close friends of Mr. Taft, who do not believe a milk-and-mush campaign, as it has been described, will win the fight for the nomination. They take the position that, unless Mr. Taft meets attack by attack, the country will not be impressed with the president's claims upon his party, and that he will lose support which he would otherwise have and which is his by every right.

In any event, the president will make a reply of some character to the colonel's arguments and he will have the attention of the whole country when he does it. He has himself indicated that he will make this reply on the installment plan and that no one part of it will be complete.

Forms Own Club.

The first real sign on the part of the president that he was losing patience under the Roosevelt fire and that he was about to deliver himself and do it with force, came when he issued his White House statement forming a little Ananias club of his own and effectively making the colonel honorary president of the organization.

The former president has made some pointed references in his Columbus speech to the fact that the people of the United States are fit for self-government. The president had been quoted in hundreds of newspapers as saying that all people were not fitted to govern themselves. Mr. Taft suspected that the Roosevelt shot was aimed straight at him. Therefore, the return fire was naturally directed in the colonel's direction.

For months, the former president has been engaged in assailing the Taft policies. He attacked the arbitration treaties as wholly unworthy of the American government and as impracticable and impossible of operation.

Taft To Be Plain.

Not satisfied with that, the colonel has taken several opportunities to assault the administration's record on trust prosecutions. He was particularly bitter with regard to the suit against the United States Steel corporation, in which his own record was involved.

All these attacks, Mr. Taft has borne with more or less calmness. He has not, however, been able to remain silent when the judiciary has been under fire and when the so-called progressives have proposed that judges along with aldermen, state legislators and other state and city officials be recalled.

If he makes a reply to Roosevelt, as he is now expected to do, Taft will defend the judiciary with force, he will nail hard the initiative and referendum, he will defend the arbitration treaties, he will vindicate his trust-busting department of justice, and he will reiterate his belief in the ability of the American people to govern themselves.

A man's long face may be due to the fact that he is short.

SOME OF THE BIG THINGS DONE BY PRESIDENT TAFT

The President's Executive Statesmanship Depicted.

A HISTORY OF HIS ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Fifty-Eight Million Dollars Deficit Is Transformed into $30,000,000 Surplus by Operation of Tariff Act—Other Important Features of Taft's Administration.

Washington, March 6.—Showing up the great statesmanship of President Taft, and the things he has accomplished during his administration, Gus J. Karger, newspaper correspondent, today gives a brief history of the achievements of the chief executive, declaring that no previous president has had the opportunity to handle so many important matters, both domestic and foreign. List of accomplishments follows.

1. Negotiation of arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France.

2. Enforcement of anti-trust statute, involving prosecution of nearly three-score monster combinations.

3. Government victories in Standard Oil and Tobacco trust cases effecting clear interpretation of Sherman law.

4. Abrogation of obsolete passport treaty with Russia.

5. Adoption of principle of scientific tariff revision, schedule by schedule.

6. Creation of tariff board to report on differences between cost of production at home and abroad.

7. Fifty-eight million dollars deficit transformed into $30,000,000 surplus by operation of tariff act and exercise of rigid economy in government department expenditures.

8. Veto of wool, cotton and farmers' free list bills on ground that they violated principle of protection proclaimed by Republican platform.

9. Panama canal brought to stage approaching completion, without a breath of scandal.

10. Veto of Arizona statehood bill because of offensive "recall of judges" provision of its constitution.

11. Postoffice department, for first time in history, placed on self-sustaining basis.

12. Military maneuvers along Mexican border, that made for maintenance of order on both sides of border and preserved American neutrality.

13. Reorganization of army in progress, providing for unprecedented mobility of troops.

14. Reorganization of customs service, corruption eliminated, frauds exposed and punished and millions of dollars recovered.

15. Bureau of mines created.

16. Workmen's compensation act fought to successful issue in supreme court.

17. Commission's report of employers' liability, accompanied by bill and president's endorsement.

18. Further extension of safety appliance act, safeguarding lives and limbs of railroad employes.

19. Abolition of "pork barrel" system of river and harbor appropriation and substitution of new and successful business policy.

20. Negotiation of treaties with Honduras and Nicaragua, making for permanent peace in those countries.

21. Negotiation and ratification of new treaty with Japan, which brought the two countries together in bonds of friendship.

22. Establishment of postal savings banks, resulting in deposits aggregating millions annually.

23. Establishment of economy and efficiency commission, whose recommendations will accomplish savings of many millions annually.

24. Creation of stocks and bonds commission, which has submitted a valuable and exhaustive report as the basis for sane and useful legislation.

25. Continued progress toward establishment of parcels post

26. Judicial appointments taken out of politics.

27. Non-political methods made successful in taking the thirteenth census.

28. Further extension of civil service by executive order, with recommendation to place practically all federal appointees on merit basis.

29. Passage of corporation excise tax law, yielding $30,000,000 annually, and establishing government surveillance for corporation methods.

In a newly-published book entitled "Ultra-Fashionable of America," Miss Leta Sullivan, a New York society beauty is referred to as one of the most prominent belles of the season. Included in the list of beautiful New York society matrons is Mrs. Robert Goelet. The official count of New York's real society is given as 469 by the author of the book.

AMERICAN'S DEATH SENTENCE REVOKED

He Had Circulated Wild Rumors in Juarez Garrison.

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—Holding up prominent Mexicans for funds for the revolutionary cause is apparently the principal occupation of the rebels now garrisoning Juarez. Following the arrests of Father Pinto, from whom $100 was secured, regardless of his American citizenship, and the forced "contribution" secured from Juan Terrazas last week, when he was made to pay $1,000, the rebels arrested Primitivo Enriquez, a Chihuahua merchant, and forced him to pay $1,000 to secure his release

Antonio Samorio, an El Paso tailor, who excited the rebel garrison by spreading the report in Juarez that federal troops were coming, received a sentence to be executed, at a hearing before a military court, presided over by General Antonio Rojas. Later sentence was suspended because he is an American citizen, but the man has not been released. "We must set an example for those Maderista spics," was the comment of General [illegible]

KILPATRICK OPENS FOR SUFFRAGETTES

Women's Gallery Is Packed by the Women of Ohio.

Columbus, O., March 6.—Frequently interrupted with questions from opponents of woman's suffrage, Delegate Kilpatrick, of Trumbull, county occupied the entire morning with an argument in support of his proposal for equal suffrage and was still speaking when the noon recess was taken.

The women's gallery was packed with suffragettes and anti-suffragettes who vied with each other in applause for points made for their respective sides of the question.

Johnson, of Williams, temporarily in the chair, gallantly refrained from calling them to order. Gallagher said the proposal will have at least seventy votes in its favor. It is possible a vote will be reached late this evening

NAB ALLEGED COUNTERFEITERS

Three Brothers Arrested by Federal Officers in West Virginia.

Wheling, W. Va., March 6.—In a raid near Thacker, West Virginia, federal officers today arrested three brothers on a charge of counterfeiting. The arrests are said to be the most important in the government's war on counterfeiters made during the last decade.

The prisoners are James, John and William Stevens.

During the last year, the counterfeiters have flooded southern West Virginia and eastern Kentucky with the most perfect counterfeit of five dollar gold pieces known in the history of the secret service.

UNCLE AND NEPHEW KILLED BY A TRAIN

Are Struck by Lake Shore Passenger at Oak Harbor.

Oak Harbor, O., March 6.—Charles R. Rea, thirty-one, and his uncle, Louis Robideau, thirty-five, were instantly killed here today when an eastbound Lake Shore passenger train, running at high speed, struck them. They were hurled nearly fifty feet.

Burned to Death.

Genesee, Pa., March 6.—Trapped in their burning home, Mrs. John Moran and her son, Thomas Moran, were burned to death here today.

The easier it is to reform a man the oftener you'll have to do it.

LICENSE FIGHT COMES TO END

Convention Adopts Anderson Substitute.

IT CONTAINS MANY DRASTIC PROVISIONS

Not More Than One Saloon to 500 Population.

Wets Are Routed by the Allies—Drys and Middle-of-the-Road Delegates Put Through Proposal by a Big Vote—Put Ban on the Brewery-Owned Saloons—Legislature To Fix the License Fee.

Columbus, O., March 6.—Delegates to the constitutional convention yesterday decided to put up to Ohio voters the question of establishing a restricted liquor license in the state. In the event of its defeat at the polls, the present no-license clause will be retained.

Radical license men yesterday expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the proposal agreed upon and many openly predicted its defeat at the polls. An attache of the liberal organization, however, said the wets were concerned most of all in getting license and this the proposal provided.

Leaving to the committee on arrangement and phraseology the task of ironing out apparent inconsistencies in the proposal the convention passed on second reading, by a vote of ninety-one to eighteen, the amended Anderson substitute for Mr. Anderson's proposal, No. 151. The proposal as finally adopted by the convention is a compromise and contains drastic restrictions.

Those Responsibe.

It is largely the product of the middle-of-the-road license men, supplemented by the radical drys, who succeeded in having written in nearly all of the restrictions of the Anderson substitute including revocation of license upon conviction of violation of any regulatory law and a clause designed to prevent a state license board. It contains an inhibition against brewery ownership of saloons. The proposal leaves to municipalities the formation of the number of saloon licenses, but provides that no legislation shall authorize more than one saloon for every 500 inhabitants in municipalities of more than 500 population. Nothing is said about the license fee to be charged. This presumably will be up to the legislature to fix

The day's fight was marked by the utter rout of the unrestricted license men led by Judge F. R. King, of Erie. Attempts by Judge King and other wet leaders to modify the proposal as passed resulted in crushing defeat

As adopted the license clause reads:

Text of Proposal.

"License to traffic in intoxicating liquors shall hereafter be granted in this state, and license laws operative throughout the state shall be passed with such restrictions and regulations as the general assembly may provide, and the general assembly shall authorize municipal corporations to provide for the limitation of the number of saloons under generals laws applicable thereto; provided, that where traffic is or may be prohibited under laws applying to counties, municipalities, townships or residence districts not prescribed by law, the traffic shall not be licensed in any such local subdivision while any prohibition law is operative therein, and nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to repeal, modify or suspend any prohibitory laws, or any regulatory law now or hereafter enacted or to prevent the future enactment, modification or repeal of any similar prohibitory or regulatory laws.

Who Can Get License.

"No license shall be granted to any person who at the time of making such application is not a citizen of the United States and of good moral character. No license shall be granted to any applicant who is in any way or manner interested in the business conducted at any other place where intoxicating beverages are sold or kept for sale, nor shall such license be granted unless the applicant or applicants are the only persons in any way pecuniarily interested in the business asked to be licensed, and that no other person shall in any manner whatsoever be in any way interested therein during the continuance of the license, and if such interest of such person be made to appear, the said license shall be deemed revoked.

"If any licensee is more than once convicted for a violation of the laws in force to regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors, the license of said licensee shall be deemed revoked, and no license shall thereafter be granted to such convicted licensee.

The Limitation.

"No application for license shall be granted unless the business for which license is allowed shall be located in the same county or an adjoining county to that in which the person or persons live and reside whose duty it is to grant such license.

"No legislature shall authorize more than one license to each township or municipality of less than 500 population, nor more than one to each 500 population in other townships and municipalities."

The peculiar patchwork result was obtained through substitution of the first two paragraphs of the middle-of-the-road proposal, introduced by Delegate Harter, of Huron, for the first two paragraphs of Mr. Anderson's substitute. The limitation paragraph was an amendment by Mr. Lampson.

Those Against Plan.

Those who voted against adoption were Delegates Brown, of Lucas, Colton, Cunningham, DeFrees, Dunn, Kilpatrick, Mauck, Okey, Peters, Pettit, Read, Riley, Solether, Stevens, Stewart, Tannehill, Walker and Watson. Messrs. Brown, of Lucas, DeFrees and Riley are wets, who could not stomach the proposal as finally drawn. President Bigelow did not vote. Absentees were Delegate Brown, of Pike, Campbell, Eby, Evans, Keller, Matthews, Miller, of Fairfield, and Rorick.

Through a suggestion of Judge Worthington, the form of the proposal was changed so that the words of the present constitution are not mentioned in the proposal. Mr. Worthington declared it was unnecessary and confusing, to place before the voters the present no-license clause as if it were new subject matter. His amendment, which was adopted, provides that if license does not carry the present no-license clause, section 15 of the schedule, shall be retained.

PROTEGE SETTLES WITH THE HEIRS

Miss Margaret Cameron Is To Get Nearly $800,000.

New York, March 6.—Miss Margaret Cameron, protege and sometimes called the niece of Edwin Hawley, has made a settlement with the heirs of the late railway magnate. Under the terms of this agreement, it was learned today, Miss Cameron will be paid a sum estimated at between $500,000 and $800,000 in cash.

The final appraisement of the estate shows that when Hawley died he had a fortune of $17,600,000. Now that the settlement with Miss Cameron has been effected, the estate will remain intact.

PHILADELPHIANS ARE SHOCKED AT NEWS

Mrs. Grace Known as "Daisy of the Leopard Skins."

Mrs. Grace, Who Formerly Lived in the Quaker City, Is Accused of Shooting Her Husband in Atlanta Yesterday.

Philadelphia, March 6.—Many Philadelphians received a shock when they heard that Mrs. E. H. Grace was accused of shooting her husband in Atlanta yesterday. She was formerly Mrs. William H. Opie and was known among her friends here as "Daisy of the Leopard Skins," on account of the leopard furs which she wore.

Mrs. Grace came from Lebanon, Pennsylvania, to Philadelphia several years ago. She is a striking brunette, five feet seven inches tall, with a splendid figure and clothes that draw envious glances from women. Opie was a traveling salesman for a Paper company. He was said to be worth over $75,000. Mrs. Opie wore magnificent gowns and her husband owned at the time of his death, uncut diamonds worth thousands of dollars. For some reason he nor his wife cared to dispose of the gems.

Opie died February 20, 1911, in the Garretson hospital. He had tried to crank his automobile a week before, and skinned his arm. Blood-poisoning resulted and he died soon afterward. After Opie died, Grace and Mrs. Opie announced that they were going to be married and go abroad. They lived at the Desmond apartments for a time, giving it out that they had been married March 8 in New York. They went South.

Within the last month or two, little has been heard from the Graces.

THREE MEN PERISH IN A QUINCY FIRE TODAY

Their Boarding-House Is Destroyed at Early Hour.

The Men's Bodies Are So Badly Burned That They Are Hardly Recognizable—The Cause of the Fire Is Unknown.

Quincy, Mass., March 6.—Suffocated as they slept, three men perished in a fire in the upper part of the boarding-house at No. 661, Washington street early today.

The dead are Daniel Leary, twenty-five; Donald Graham, thirty-four; Patrick McDonald, thirty-four.

The three men died in a low dark attic. They were lodgers and had beds together in the same room. Their bodies were so badly burned that they were hardly recognizable. The caues of the fire is unknown.

DECLARES RALPH EDDY STILL ALIVE

Wooster Man Says He Talked with Missing Youth.

Wooster, O., March 5.—In August, 1908, Ralph E. Eddy, only son of Captain Robert E. Eddy of Wooster, disappeared from Chicago the evening of his marriage to his schoolgirl sweetheart. A nation-wide search was made for the young man, but without success, and the theory that he had been murdered by thugs against whom he had given testimony was accepted.

Now comes word that Eddy is alive. A traveling salesman who knew Eddy well sends word that he talked to Eddy in a hotel at Louisville, Ky., Sunday. He writes that Eddy is going under the name of H. Ross, and insisted that he had never been in Wooster. The traveler says that he will stake his life that it was Eddy he met.

SENATOR DEAN'S HOME IN RUINS

The Senator Saves Only the Clothes He Wears.

Fremont, O., March 4.—The residence of Senator Thomas A. Dean, a frame structure, and all second floor contents were destroyed by fire. Senator Dean was cleaning out a stopped-up furnace and chimney when he noted that flames were bursting from the upper part of the dwelling. A strong wind fanned the flames, which made rapid headway. Loss $6,000, with $4,000 insurance on the house and $1,000 on the contents. Senator Dean saved only the clothes he wore.

MISFORTUNE KNOCKS OFTEN AT HIS DOOR

A Wapakoneta Man Has Hard Struggle with Fate.

Wapakoneta, March 6.—George Niedemire, teamster, who had both legs broken by a falling tree last summer, suffered a fall yesterday which resulted in his left leg being broken again. Some time ago Niedemire's barn with all its contents was destroyed by fire, and a little later his team of horses died.

Besides this, he has had sickness of some kind or other in the family for the last three years, and has been prevented from doing any great amount of work during that time.

It is easier to bump up against the law than it is to back away from it.

PEKING STREETS RED WITH BLOOD

Over 150 Mutineers Executed There Today.

HEADS OF VICTIMS STUCK ON POLES

And Are Carried Through City as Warning.

President Yuan Declares Situation Could Only Be Controlled by Exercising Most Drastic Action, Adding That the "Black Spots Had To Be Washed Off with Blood." Women Among Those Beheaded.

Peking, March 6. — President Yuan Shi Kai has finally secured complete control of the situation in this city and today terrible punishment was meted out to mutineers and pillaging outlaws in wholesale executions. One batch of more than 150 persons was beheaded. The executioners worked in relays.

The street where the execution took place resembled a shambles with a lake of human blood and the piled up headless corpses. Even hardened soldiers, inured in campaigns to sights of inhumanity and atrocities, were sickened by the hideous spectacle.

Heads of some of the victims were stuck on bamboo poles and carried through the streets with written warnings appended. Others were placed on tripods in public square. Such warnings as "This is the punishment for deserters and incendiaries" were attached to the heads.

Yuan's Explanation.

President Yuan Shi Kai explained that the situation could be saved only by exercising the most drastic action. In his picturesque language the "black spots had to be washed off with blood."

A number of women have been arrested for looting and several of them were put to death today. They came from the lowest classes and fought side by side with the men of the mobs which plundered the city.

The streets are under patrol of native and foreign soldiers. The scene about the legation quarter is a thrilling one. An international army, representing all the big powers of the world, is gathered there. Several times a day, the soldiers march through the streets, usually preceded by the United States marines. This action is used to awe the outlaws.

Revolt May Spread.

It is now positive that Yuan will not leave the city for some time owing to the danger which would attend his absence. Dispatches received from Pao Tong Fu say that the main army of deserters has withdrawn into the hills, but another attack is feared. The mutiny is spreading throughout southern Manchuria and disturbances are reported from half a dozen towns. So far as known, no missionaries have been killed, but the disorders are increasing in the west.

There is danger that the disaffection will reach the troops stationed at Chee Foo.

China's Awful Cost.

Nanking, March 6.—"Liberty" will cost China 100,000 human lives and before order is restored and the republican government is finally established, probably as many again will fall victims to anarchy and internal turbulence."

This statement was made today by General Li Huen Heng, vice president of the republic, who is seeking permission to lead an army against the mutineers in the north.

General Li, who was commander in chief of the Hankow republican army at the outbreak of hostilities, represents the military part of the government. General Li favors the proclamation of martial law throughout the northern provinces, where the mutineers are ravaging the country. Only the sternest measures, says, can restore peace, because the criminal classes, having a taste of unbridled license, will fight against any authority which threatens to restrain them.

If the republican government established at Peking and an army is sent into the field against the allied brigands and deserters, General Li will likely lead it.

Missionary Killed.

Tien Tsin, March 6.—In an attack following the mutiny of the garrison, the Rev. F. Day, an English missionary, was shot to death and an attempt was made to assassinate Rev. F. S. Hughes, another missionary. A number of shots were fired at the Rev. Mr. Hughes, but all missed their mark.

The mutiny at Ching Ho was marked by atrocious deeds. Many Chinese were killed, property was pillaged and a part of the town burned.

At the height of the rioting an attack was made upon the missionaries. Realizing the danger they were in, the missionaries pleaded with the leaders, but were unable to stop the pillaging, murder and arson of the deserters.

The new built is either a narrow affair of black varnished leather or ornamental kid or a plain unwrinkled band of velvet ribbon.

BATTLES WAY THROUGH RAIN

Aviator Flies from London to Paris.

SALMET MAKES A NO-STOP FLIGHT

He Covers 237 Miles in 325 Minutes.

Aviator Is So Chilled by the Rain and Cold That He Has To Be Helped from the Machine—Great Crowd Greets Salmet on His Arrival in Paris—The Story of the Flight.

Paris, March 7.—After battling his way through a blinding rainstorm which drenched him to the skin, Aviator Salmet arrived at the Issy aerodrome, just outside of Paris, today, having made a no-stop flight from the London suburb of Hendon.

By the route traveled, Salmet covered 237 miles in 325 minutes. He left the Hendon aerodrome at 6 o'clock and made fast time all the way.

When Salmet descended, he was so chilled from the rain and cold that he had to be helped from his monoplane. He quickly revived, however, after partaking of hot drinks and being wrapped in blankets.

Word of Salmet's coming had been flashed before him and for several hours before he arrived, crowds had been flocking into the Issy aerodrome.

A Dot in the Air.

Those with glasses, who were sweeping the northern skyline, spied a dot high in the air. Within a few minutes it had grown in size and finally the outline of the machine was made out. The flyer was traveling at top speed in his anxiety to get to earth. As he neared the aerodrome, he began to descend and the car was brought to earth without a jar in the middle of the starting field.

Spectators dashed out and surrounded the monoplane. Salmet sat in his seat grasping the levers, unable to move. He was quickly picked up and carried to a nearby building.

Salmet said that after leaving Hendon, he encountered pleasant weather through the English part of his trip. He made straight for Eastbourne on the channel coast and crossed from that point.

PUTS IT UP TO VOTERS OF OHIO

Convention Adopts Woman Suffrage Proposal.

VOTES FOR WOMEN, CRY SUFFRAGETTES

Then They Weep and Cheer in Their Joy.

It Is Most Dramatic Moment Since Convention Opens and President Bigelow Allows Women To Give Vent to Their Feelings—Fair Sex Fills the Galleries—The Speeches Made Today.

Columbus, O., March 7.—When the constitutional convention met today, the debate on woman's suffrage waxed warm.

By a vote of seventy-six to thirty-four the convention adopted the Kilpatrick woman suffrage proposal. This puts the matter of woman suffrage directly up to the voters of Ohio.

The galleries were packed to suffocation and when announcement of the vote was made, the women let loose with enthusiasm.

"Votes for women," they cried and President Bigelow smilingly allowed them to give vent to their enthusiasm. The arguments this morning were mostly made in favor of the proposal and it went through with a rush. Many of the women were so overjoyed that they wept, cheered and laughed at the same time. It was the most dramatic moment since the convention began.

Speeches for and against the proposal were limited to fifteen minutes each. A large representation of the fair sex in the galleries applauded vigorously when the delegates made telling points.

napolis, and Fireman Guy Wooley, of Bellefontaine, were probably slightly injured today and thirty passengers hurt in a wreck of Big Four passenger train No. 20, known as the "New York Central Limited," in the yards here early today. The engine left the tracks and eight coaches were derailed. The engine turned over and the engineer and fireman were crushed. The passengers suffered minor bruises. None of them was fatally hurt.

A box car, that had been upset on a siding and fell onto the main track, was the cause of the accident.

His First Accident.

Indianapolis, March 7.—Engineer A. T. Busey, who was injured in the wreck of the Big Four St. Louis-New York express early today in the Bellefontaine, Ohio, yards, had been railroading thirty-six years without encountering a serious accident. He had been laying off at his home in Brightwood, for over a month when he got orders Monday morning to report at Bellefontaine and take out a run Tuesday morning. His fireman, Guy Wooley, of Bellefontaine was also badly injured.

REV. MR. SCHILLINGER WILL REMAIN HERE

Announces Intentions at Meeting of Congregation.

LUTHERANS GATHER AND DISCUSS MATTER

Urge Pastor To Remain in the Work Here and He Decides To Return Call to a Detroit Pastorate—Minister Is Given a Nice Increase in Salary.

Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church, on south State street, announced to the members of his congregation at a congregational meeting at the church Wednesday evening, that he would remain in Marion. The minister received a call to the Christ Evangelical Lutheran church in Detroit about two weks ago, but owing to the unanimous desire of his people that he remain, he will return the call.

The congregational meeting was held immediately after the regular Wednesday evening lenten services, and was very largely attended. The body resolved unanimously that it was its desire to retain the pastor. Rev. Mr. Schillinger gave a talk, in which he explained the situation, and said he would continue in the local pastorate. The pastor was given a nice increase in salary.

Rev. Mr. Schillinger has been pastor of the local church two years. In that time eighty-one new members have been received into membership The total membership is now 360 The church is very prosperous, the financial matters being in excellent condition The attendance at the services of the church has been excellent, the church being crowded at nearly every Sunday service During the year 1911, the sum of $2,000 was raised for local purposes and $700 was raised for missions.

DR. J. B. TAYLOR IS COUNTY PHYSICIAN

Is Awarded Contract by Infirmary Directors.

DR. W. H. HINKLIN'S BID IS THROWN OUT

The Doctor Offers To Do the Work for One Year for a Dollar—Infirmary Directors Think the Price Too Low and Give Dr. Taylor the Contract.

Coroner W H Hinklin bid one dollar to secure the job of county physician for a year, but the infirmary directors ignored his bid, which was termed "ridiculously low," and awarded the contract for furnishing medical services to the county's poor to Dr. J. B. Taylor, the present county physician, whose bid was $37.

The only other bidder, aside from Drs Hinklin and Taylor, was Dr. R. S. Wilson, of north Main street, who put in two bids with the infirmary directors One was for $250 for medical and surgery services and the other was $150 for medical services.

Dr. Taylor received notice of his reappointment as county physician Thursday. An effort was made ostensibly to suppress the fact that the bid of Dr Hinklin had been thrown out and that the contract was awarded to Dr. Taylor When the latter was asked concerning the matter he said:

"I'll tell you about it if you'll publish all the bids"

When asked why he had put in a bid for a dollar, Dr. Hinklin said he just wanted to do a little probing Asked what he meant he replied.

"Well, you see they've been letting this work at about $15 a year and it can't be done for that, so I put in my bid just to find out."

Pressed for further explanation, he declared he would rather that nothing be said about his bid in the newspapers.

Dr. Taylor has been county physician for the past five years.

ARTHUR ANDERSON DIES NEAR OWENS

Suffers of Spasms About Five Years.

Arthur, aged seven years, seven months and twenty-three days, son of Mr. and Mrs Elias B Anderson, residing half a mile west of Owens, died of spasms at the family home, Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. He had been subject to spasms since two years of age.

The funeral services were held at the late residence, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Hoyt officiating. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery.

PASQUALE PILUSO IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Arrested on a Charge Made by Humane Officer.

SAID TO USE POKER IN BEATING LITTLE GIRL

Piluso Works for the Erie and Treatment of Child Attracts the Attention of Neighbors—Daughter Asks Officers To Take Her from Her Parents.

J. W. Ulsh, officer for the Humane society, filed an affidavit in the mayor's court, Wednesday afteroon, charging Pasquale Piluso with willfully, cruelly and unlawfully punishing his daughter, Theresa, aged fourteen years. A warrant for Piluso's arrest was served, Wednesday night, by Officers Slagle and Powell, and, in company with his daughter, Piluso was taken to the office of the mayor. On being arraigned, he entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and his hearing was set for Friday evening. He furnished a bond of $100 for his appearance at the time mentioned.

The filing of the affidavit was the result of several complaints made by neighbors of the Piluso family, that the father of the girl had beaten her with a poker and otherwise abused the girl without cause. The girl is a striking beauty, with dark eyes and hair. She does not have the appearance of an Italian, and talks English as well as any American girl of the same age, although she has been in this country but six years.

While at the mayor's office the girl talked with J. H Eymon, attorney for the Humane society. She told the attorney of how her father beat her without cause She stated that she was compelled to steal coal, and if she secured a sack full and was unable to carry it, he would strike her. The girl stated that she was treated cruelly and beaten until she was black and blue. As a result of her story, she was told to call Thursday for an examination.

The girl stated that she wanted to be taken away from her father, but she was afraid to openly take sides against him, because she feared he would kill her. Thursday, she called at the mayor's office, where she was met by the humane officer and taken to the home of Mrs. S. N. Titeus, who examined her. The girl carried a number of marks which had the appearance of being caused by blows from a poker. Her mother accompanied her and, after the examination, she left with her mother. The Humane society is in charge of the case and it is likely the girl will be taken from her parents.

COMMON PLEAS COURT.

In the suit of the Columbus Die, Tool & Machine company against the American Malleable company, the defendant company, through *Scofield & Durfee, has filed a mo*tion to require the plaintiff company to secure the costs, as its headquarters is in Columbus.

An amendment to the petition in the partition suit of Benton E. Fish against Samuel A. Fish and others, has been filed in the court of common pleas by Attorneys Mouser & Moloney. New parties defendant are set up by reason of the death of Eliza Cratty, a defendant, who left Maria Winters, Princess Sifritt and Nina J. Howe, daughters and Vera Ross, granddaughter, as her only heirs, and they are made party defendants along with Lloyd Winters, Hewman Sifritt, Charles Fremont Howe and Harold Ross, their husbands.

AN UNFORTUNATE CHILD IN COURT

She Is Suffering of an Incurable Disease.

A little school girl "just in her teens cried piteously in the juvenile court, Thursday. She was found to be suffering of an incurable disease, supposedly of prenatal origin.

When her condition was discovered by Superintendent Henry A. Hartman, Juvenile Judge W. S. Spencer was notified and the unfortunate little miss was brought into court Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice was summoned with the view to bringing criminal proceedings in the event that developments warranted it Dr. H. L Uhler made an examination and gave it as his opinion that the disease of which the little girl suffered was due probably to prenatal influences.

It was decided to place the child under strict medical observation and treatment and allow her to continue her school studies.

TENTATIVE DRAFT OF NEW CODE IS MADE

A New Law as to Bonding Boys and Girls.

AN ANCIENT CUSTOM NOT REGARDED GOOD

Judge Daniel Babst and His Fellow Commissioner Will Submit a Recommendation Against the Indenturing of Children as Provided for Under the Present Law.

Judge Daniel Babst, who is one of the two members of the commissioo appointed by Governor Harmon for the codification and revision of laws relating to children, has been so deeply involved with his work on the commission that it has been wellnigh impossible for him to come to Marion and hear a number of causes which have been waiting for him for months

Judge Babst, who has not been in Marion now since last January, has written to County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter several times to the effect that he would be here on or about a certain date, but each time something would turn up to prevent his coming However, he has now completed a tentative draft of the new code and likely will be here in the near future

When the Ohio assembly again convenes. Judge Babst and his fellow commissioner, A. D .Baldwin, of Cleveland, will recommend the passage of laws making it prohibitive to bond boys or girls until they become of age.

The old European custom of a parent, or guardian of a child, indenturing the youngster to a mechanic or a farmer until the charge became of age, which was adopted in Ohio, as well as other states, will be repealed under the new code. This authority in the future will rest with the various reformatory institutions, and no child can be committed to any institution without legal steps The commission will also recommend the abolishment of the board of county visitors in each county of the state.

The powers of the juvenile court will be greatly increased by the new code, according to the tentative draft The juvenile judge will have no right to commit a child to an institution unless the institution has passed an examination conducted by a board of children's guardians, which is to take the place of the county board of visitors, and which is to have full power over the care of all dependent and neglected children. Township trustees will have no authority, under the new code, to take children away from their parents or guardian, or to surrender them to foster parents, this right resting solely with the juvenile court.

Under the new code's restrictions Judge Babst and Mr Baldwin have made it possible for the first time in Ohio, it is said, to keep a record of what becomes of all children who are public charges

Four Are Baptized.

The revival meetings which have been in progress at the First Christian church during the past few weeks, were closed Sunday evening. Wednesday evening, a special baptismal service was held at the church, four being baptized Several others will receive the sacrament of baptism in the near future The services were conducted by Evangelist Keeran.

AN AGED RESIDENT CLAIMED BY DEATH

Venerable Charles Groll Passes Away Wednesday.

Waldo, O., March 7.—[Special.] —Within the past week Mr. and Mrs. Charles Groll, two aged and highly-respected residents of Waldo, have passed away. Mrs. Groll died one week ago and at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening her life partner for the past fifty-six years, died of grief and the infirmities incident to old age. After Mrs. Groll's death, her aged husband could not be comforted and his enfeebled body could not withstand the shock. He died at the home of his son, Henry Groll, with whom he resided.

Mr. Groll was born in Germany and was aged eighty-one years, ten months and twelve days He came to America with his parents when but two years of age. They settled in Richland township, and the deceased spent the remainder of his life in Marion county. He was married to Miss Margaret Akam, May 12, 1856, and to this union were born nine children, five of whom survive. They are Mrs. W. H. Keny, of Park street; Henry, Charles P., William F. and Frank L. Groll, of Waldo.

SATEMENT AS TO COUNTY TREASURY

A Total Balance of $284,285.34 on Hands.

For the first time in many years, County Auditor Jay Spaulding's monthly financial statement, issued today, does not show an over-balance of $7 23, which amount is supposed to be an accumulation of minor errors made in the offices of the treasurer and the auditor during the past quarter of a century. This sum was eliminated about a month ago by simply appropriating it and then placing it back into the treasury, as was stated in the Star at the time.

According to the financial statement, Marion county has $364,830,-25. Of this large amount, the sum of $364 058.69 is on deposit in the local banks, drawing two per cent. interest Only the small amount of $821 56 was in the county treasury at the time the statement was made. The total balance, February 1 was $284,285.34

The receipts during February amounted to $126,893 01 and the disbursements reached $46 961 15
